

The Endeavor;

And the Lord said, "You shall not find Me until you have given your whole heart, your whole soul, your whole mind and your whole strength. Only then will you truly understand who or where I Am."

Any large undertaking is only the integral part of the journey. The results won't fully be clear until you eventually get there, may take longer than anticipated and are not always recognized immediately. Sometimes we have to teach ourselves to leave our personal feelings out of it. Remember, the endeavor is not about us or our trials, it's about the quest.

There also will be times when we don't understand the answers or may assume, we made a mistake. But when it keeps repeating each time it is retested, do we still reject it because we don't like it, or do we persuade ourselves to stand back and re-evaluate what we're looking at? Sometimes correctness is obscure before it converts to a discovery. What eventually did come to light from this exploration, was the incredible level of intensity found within his teachings.

This site and its listed publications demonstrate the many factors that surfaced since the forty years when the very thought of going here came to mind. Inner searching, fighting with demons, praying for wisdom and truth and research only begin to describe what pain and suffering means on a Spiritual level. And yes, there were surprises.

Some of you may not fully grasp what this is. That is to be expected. But for those of you who do,...'Welcome'
