

Deloraine & Area Border Festival began in 1981 with one major award for top performer in the festival

The ROSE BOWL

Tudor Bowl ♦ Piano In 1990 the major award for piano discipline was renamed the Tudor Bowl as it was realized a Rose Bowl is traditionally awarded in the vocal category.

Rose Bowl ♦ Vocal In 1992 the vocal Rose Bowl was added as another major award. The Tudor Bowl would remain a major award for top piano performance.

Oratorical Cup ♦ Speech Arts In 1999 the major award of an Oratorical Cup was added for our ever popular speech arts discipline.

Scholarship ♦ Visual Arts In 2016 a scholarship was created for a visual arts student showing a high level of artistic skill.

Scholarship ♦ Instrumental In 2019 a scholarship was created to recognize the top performer in Instrumental.

Unfortunately, some award winners and pictures are missing (homepage major award winner pictorial link) If you are able to provide names and/or pictures the committee would appreciate hearing from you! We would also like to know of any participants who "placed" in provincials.

TOP AWARDS AT THE FESTIVAL . . . The 1998 Deloraine Border Festival ended Sunday with the traditional Hi-Lites Concert at which trophies, scholarships and medallions are presented each year to distinguished performers.

Three musicians took top honors. The Rose Bowl, presented by the Lewthwaite family to a singer with the highest marks, went to Alissa Franklin of Melita (photo t left). Laura Lewthwaite made the presentation, assisted by Claire and David Day.

The Tudor Bowl for the top marks in instrumental performances is being shared by two musicians: Aimee Hobbs of Deloraine and Grant Rutherford of Melita (photo above). Mayor Donna Todd made the presentation on behalf of the Town of Deloraine which provides the trophy.

All three winners, plus Breigh Williams and Laura Patterson, were recommended to the provincial finals, an invitational concert which showcases excellence from various festivals in Manitoba.

At Sunday's ceremony, the South West Regional Foundation made a $531.35 cash award to the festival. "We've been working on the foundation for three years, and it is finally beginning to pay off — but we're not done yet!"

Festival ends with a concert

The Highlites Concert at the Deloraine Winchester Theatre Sunday afternoon brought this year's Border Festival to its close.

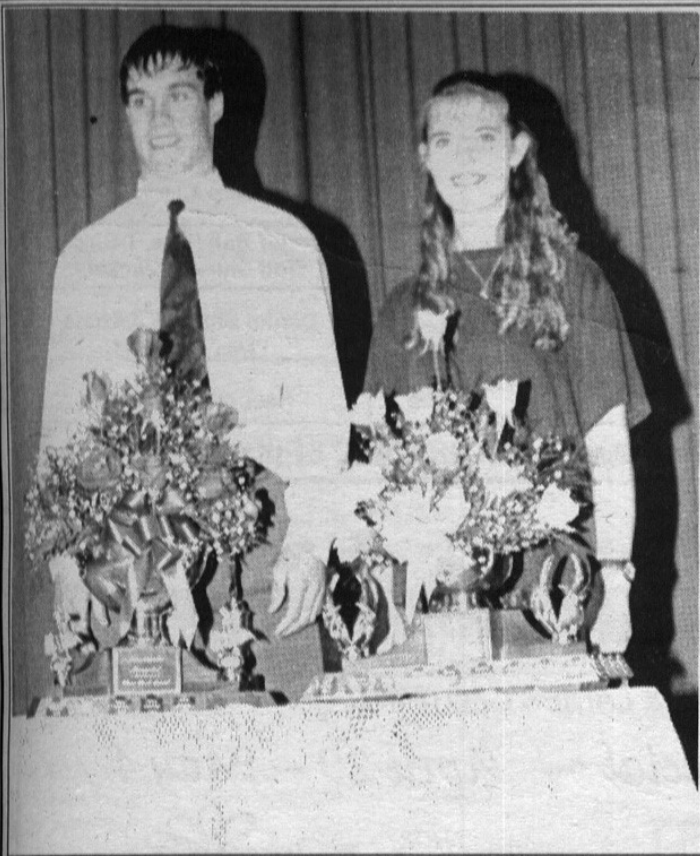

More than 700 entries were adjudicated over a 12-day period beginning April 17.

The most prestigious trophies awarded Sunday included the Rose Bowl for vocal performance, won by Christi McGregor of Waskada; and the Tudor Bowl for piano performance, won by Avonlea Armstrong of Killarney.

BORDER FESTIVAL — WINNERS OF TOP AWARDS

The 16th annual Border Festival closed Sunday with a concert of highlights from two weeks of adjudicated performances. The theatre in Deloraine was absolutely full for the closing concert.

The Rose Bowl, presented by the Lewthwaite family for the top vocal performance, went to Chris Nielsen (above left).

The Tudor Bowl, presented by the Town of Deloraine for the best piano solo performance, was won by Avonlea Armstrong of Killarney. It was the third year in a row that she finished with top honors but in 1994 and '95 she shared the trophy with co-winner. This year it's all hers!

Top performance awards — Festival Hi-Lites '94

Verna Keeler (left), president of the Deloraine Border Festival, joined winners of the top awards when this year's Festival Hi-Lites concert closed Sunday.

In memory of Clarence (Chubb) Lewthwaite, the family — including Claire Day (at right), Laura Lethwaite and Jim Lewthwaite (partly hidden, third from right) — sponsors the Rose Bowl for vocal performance. This year's winner was singer Trina Nestibo of Goodlands who also plays the piano.

The 14th annual festival this year involved more than 700 entries. About 40 performances played before a full house at the local theatre Sunday.

Highlights concert summarizes 12th annual Border Festival

The annual two-week festival of arts in Deloraine climaxed Sunday when the local theatre was packed again for the final showcase of choice performances.

Winner of the Border Festival's highest honor, the Tudor Bowl, was pianist

Nicole Harder. The Rose Bowl for vocal performance, in memory of Chub Lewthwaite, was awarded for the first time this year. It was won by Erica Nielsen.

About 650 entries passed before the adjudicators this year, about 54% in piano.

Jennifer Nielsen wins her third Rose Bowl

A Grade 11 student at Deloraine Collegiate Institute, Jennifer Nielsen of Goodlands, could have won the Rose Bowl for participation (if that's what the Border Festival's highest award was for).

She appeared on stage about 40 times: playing piano solos and a quick study, singing solo and duet, accompanying 20 other performers and playing her saxophone solo and in the school band. The adjudicators recommended her to the Festival Committee to receive the Town of Deloraine trophy which is designated for "the top performer in the [competitive portion of] the Festival."

It was the third consecutive year for her to win the Rose Bowl.

Sunday's Hi-Lites Concert featured a variety of samples from the Festival. The 38 performances appeared to have been chosen especially for their audience appeal, as well as excellence in what they had prepared for the previous two weeks' display.

Among those selected to perform again at an invitational concert in Brandon June 18 were:

- Laurel Poole, clarinet;
- Calla Lec Nestibo, voice;
- The 'Dance with Marilyn "B" Group', tap dance and jazz; and
- Jennifer Nielsen and Marcia Keeler, instrumental duet.

Stephanie Spence's work goes on to provincial competition in the visual arts; and Jennifer Nielsen sings The Holy City in Winnipeg June 2-4 at provincial finals.

Two 'notes' the community cannot ignore each year sounded again during the latest Festival:

- Parking was at a premium downtown for two solid weeks; and
- The entire event, with about 650 performances involving maybe

1,000 individuals was organized and run by women exclusively.

This week Thursday evening, another visitor to the community is expected to have a message of interest for all, but especially those in business.

A young community development officer from Carman is coming to town to speak at a Deloraine Business Association dinner meeting. His name is Ilija Dragojevic. It looks like a 'don't-miss' event for anyone interested in the future of this town.

The local taxi - the DBW Handy Van - seems to have solved its driver shortage. Instead of relying on volunteer drivers, the Handy Van committee has created a job and hired a paid driver.

Meanwhile, seniors involved with the Mountview Centre continue to seek pledges as they plan for a new building.

The organization's leaders say there's an important meeting this week. Following that, they may have further announcements to make about plans to build, the need for more donors, the value of their services to the community at large and to the growing number of seniors who make up a sizeable part of the population.

Never underestimate 'Gray Power', they say.

One youth sang Didn't We Almost Have It All last week, echoing the weather: Thunder showers and a half-inch of rain Monday; strong, warm winds Tuesday; snow Saturday; and everything in between in between! Ice finally disappeared from the lakes last week and seeding hit full stride.

Two-week Festival displays talent and teaching

by BEN KROEKER,
Times & Star staff.

Why so many cars in Deloraine?

The question arose repeatedly during the past two weeks as passers-by took note of extra traffic in town. The 'generator' was the annual Border Festival, a showcase of talent, practice and education in visual, spoken, music and dance arts.

Well over 500 entries from southwestern Manitoba communities within a 100-kilometre radius of Deloraine took to the stage during the festival. It ended as it began with a 'sampler' Sunday afternoon concert at the Deloraine Winchester Theatre. Both performances (April 17 and May 1) packed the place.

Meantime, eight professional artists adjudicated the entries.

Some features of the Deloraine festival:

* Children, male and female, predominate in the entries each year. But adults perform, too.

* The trophies come from various businesses and individuals in the community. But the organization is entirely 'manned' by women — dozens of them!

Festival winds down

Two weeks of competitive and non-competitive arts performances in Deloraine closed Sunday with the annual concert featuring festival highlights.

Rose Bowl won

The highest honor bestowed by the Border Festival — the coveted Rose Bowl — went Sunday to Maureen Schoonbaert of Deloraine.

In the local two-week festival in April, she played the piano in eight classes, winning firsts in seven of them with marks as high as 87 twice. She also played her flute in a solo class and was awarded the Senior Instrumental Trophy.

In vocal performance she sang in three solo classes and with the Goodlands Glee Club chorus.

Two further awards included a Level 8-to-Honors Piano Scholarship from the Deloraine Festival and a Boissevain Festival Scholarship.

Maureen Schoonbaert is completing Grade 8 piano during her final year in high school. Her plans include further study at the School of Music, Brandon University next year.

Rose Bowl

The 1985 Rose Bowl winner at the Deloraine Border Festival's highlights concert on Sunday, as chosen by the adjudicators, was Manna Saunders of Estevan. A former resident of Deloraine, she competed in senior piano classes.

Presenting her with the highest honor of the festival is Deloraine mayor Blayne Smith.

Lori Keene was honoured with the "Rose Bowl", donated by the Town of Deloraine for being chosen by the adjudicators as the top performer in the entire festival. Mayor Blayne Smith presented Lori with her trophy on Sunday evening at the Highlights Concert. Lori also earned a Festival Scholarship award presented to the most deserving Instrumental performer.

The First Annual Deloraine Broder Festival was held last week with the Highlights Concert on Sunday evening.

The Festival, a new event for the area went over well under the competent and dedicated work of President Donna Todd and her Festival Committee.

Over 300 entries performed in the three day event and the performers were graciously welcomed by the many spectators attending the various classes of choral, piano and instrumental performers.

The adjudicators all commented on how pleased they were with the calibre and quality of talent.

Committee presidents, Donna Todd, noted that the committee was pleased with the outcome of the Festival and are already anxiously planning for next years event.

The Highlights Concert, was the Grand Finale of the Festival with 23 of the best entries of the three days of competition.

More pictures are on page 2. Watch for more details of the Festival in next weeks paper.
