HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

A QUICK DISCLAIMER ABOUT THIS GUIDE:

With everything going on in the world right now, small businesses have definitely been struggling. When I decided to commit to supporting small businesses this holiday season, I thought it may be fun to spread the word about small, female-owned businesses.

You already know that any of the products promoted in our shop are brands and products that I have tested myself first before sharing with you. Those products and brands are featured because of their quality and the value I think they can bring our members.

Unless otherwise noted, I have not personally tested the products and services featured in this guide, therefore they are not brands that NYC Brunch Squad is officially endorsing. If you do decide to try any of these products/brands, please share your feedback!

I hope you have a wonderful holiday season. Please stay safe!
