Magic, Mayhem, and Mages!

Many, if not all our readers have surely seen the the very large swirling vortex of magical energy rising into the sky from the Embassy at Dunwich. But what is it? Who created it? And what does this mean for the rest of us?

Hope's Folly Gone Dark, Again...

Once again our favorite little penile colony turned adventurer haven has gone dark. It's been about 6 months since anyone has seen or heard anything from the town leaders, or it's people. There are rumors of unusual amounts of undead roaming the outskirts of the Darkwood at night, could this be the reason for their lack of communication?

Why this small town seems to be the epicenter for so many strange happenings is beyond us, but we do hope to hear from them, and their new adventurers, soon.

If you or someone you know has any information on the happenings of Hope's Folly, please contact us at The Kingdom Chronicles!

THE KINGDOM CHRONICLES

Dear Alura:

Long time reader, first time writer. I find myself with a problem I'd like your help on.

I've been looking for my father for hundreds of years now, fantasizing about how to kill or hurt him, and now that I have found him, I find I can't kill him as I always wanted. I can feel my blood lust for him subsiding as much as I hate to admit it, but that does not forgive or excuse all the horrors and atrocities he's put me through. He's destroyed my life and turned me into a monster, but now that I found him again I don't know what to do.

I want to hate him.

I want to love him.

What do I do?

Sincerely,

The Lost Child

Dear Lost Child,

That is quite a conundrum you have there. Having had some families issues myself I'm very much of the mindset that, while your dad may have made some mistakes in the past, if it seems like he is truly attempting to make amends, you should try your best to forgive him. MADAM GANTA'S RECPIE

At the end of the day you CORNER:

only have one father, and having lost my own father before I was able to reconcile with him, I can tell you that, that pain will stay with you you're entire life.

Also, as a note, since this is a public newspaper. Depending on how many people could potentially recognize your story, this could be construed as intent, if he were to ever meet with an untimely end.

Just letting you know.

I hope you are able to find a resolution that brings you peace of mind.

Wishing you the best,
Alura

Today I will be telling you how to make Heathen Cakes
Serves 6-8 people

Ingredients

2 pounds ground beef

1 pound center cut bacon, chopped

1 small onion, rough chopped

1 Tbsp + 1 tsp. salt

1 carrot, rough chopped

1 tsp. black pepper, ground

1 stalk celery, rough chopped

2 large apples, diced

water

2 pie crusts, pre-baked

1 Tbsp. herbs to taste 1 dozen large eggs, beaten

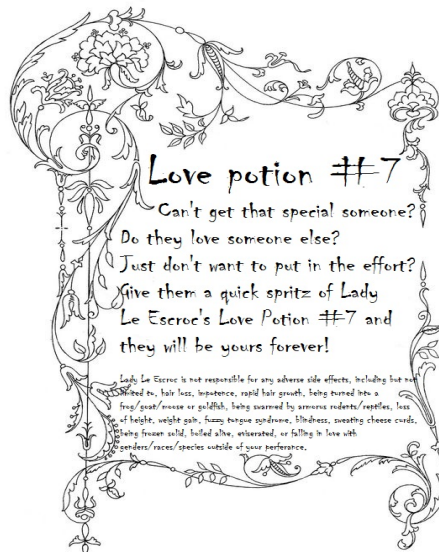

Mix the ground beef, onion, celery, and carrot into a stock pot with 1 Tbsp salt and herbs and enough water to cover.

Bring to a simmer and cook until meat is fork tender.

Remove meat from stock, and shred. Cook bacon until crisp. Remove bacon and let drain on some absorbent paper. Cook diced apple in bacon fat until tender, about 10 minutes.

Remove apples and drain on more absorbent paper. Mix together the beef, apples, bacon, salt, pepper and eggs into a large bowl. Fill pre-baked pie crusts with mixture.

Bake at 400°F for 10-12 minutes, until egg is set. Serve hot, and enjoy!

Magic, Mages, and Mayhem!

It's been several weeks since this strange magical vortex, that seems to be centered over the Embassy at Dunwich, appeared in the sky.

This column of clearly magical energy reaches up into the firmament seemingly without end, and it's light floods the night sky with an unnatural glow, making all the people of Orlon sleep uneasy.

It first appeared after a blinding flash of white light occurred in the middle of the night, after the light started to fade a deafening boom, followed by a loud prolonged roar was heard around the world.

Merchants who have passed by the area tell us that "it looks like a giant explosion happened there, and is still happening" and that the blast radius is about a mile wide, and has completely cut off the main trade route between Brunai and Crellmar. Thankfully the local lawmen were able to keep the worst of the initial panic to a minimum.

A contingent from the army of Brunai has been dispatched to investigate what happened, as has the The Scorching Light from the Inquisition of Lux.

People are being warned to stay as far away from Dunwich as possible, as no one is sure what this is, or if it's dangerous to be near it.

We urge our readers to err on the side of caution and not go near Dunwich unless there is no other option.

Speculation of how or why this happened is running rampant throughout the Seven Kingdoms, the most common conjecture is that some of the Mages in Dunwich (who were rumored to be starting a new magical "School") were performing a ritual, or experiment of some kind, and it failed horrendously. Of course there are also people who believe that this is some kind of divine punishment, or even possibly the start of the end of the world.

We at the Kingdom Chronicles are remaining objective until we have more proven facts.

There's something in the water!

Recently seafaring men and women have reported seeing strange shapes zipping under the water near their boats.

The shapes are vaguely humanoid, but blue, green, or purple in color, and extremely fast.

Rumors of ancient sea monsters of old have been circulating among the common folk.

We were lucky enough to get an eyewitness statement from a fisherman named Cob Stone.

"I seen it with my own eyes! It went right under ma boat! I tried to throw my net at it, but the dern thing was too fast! But I got a good look at it!

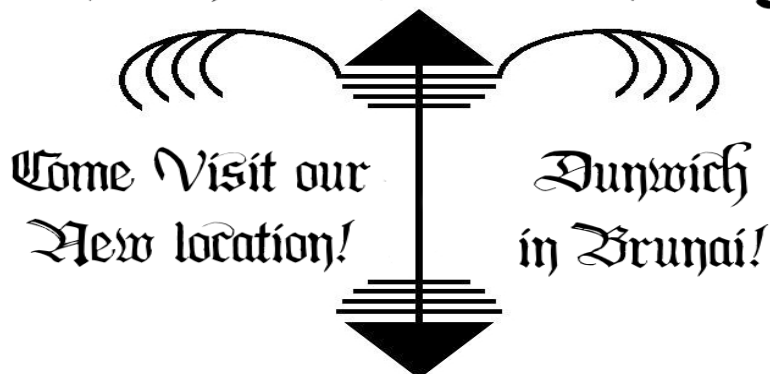

Kinda looked like a lady to be honest... All sparkly and pretty... It stopped to look at me right before I threw my net at it. But then it swam away fast as a swordfish after a mackerel."

We're not sure if these beings are dangerous, or why they chose to make themselves known now, but so far they have not caused any harm, other than scaring a few sailors and fishermen with their very presence.

For safeties sake we recommend that no one try to capture, or interact with these new creatures.

Public Declarations

Public Declarations are available to all good folk of Orlon.

This can be anything from missed connections, to mini rants against your neighbors.

Please send your Declarations to the Editor for publication.

Why haven't the mages figured out a way to turn off that damn light shooting into the sky yet? It's keeping my animals awake all night, and my rooster now never stops crowing!

~ A very angry farmer

THE END IS NEAR! I TOLD YOU IT WAS COMING BUT NONE OF YOU BELIEVED ME! WHO'S CRAZY NOW MARY?!

~ Crazy Dave (Can be found on the corner of Sumac and Nightshade)

So am I the only one that thinks the light is kinda pretty? It's like a giant night-light.

~ Jespa Lums

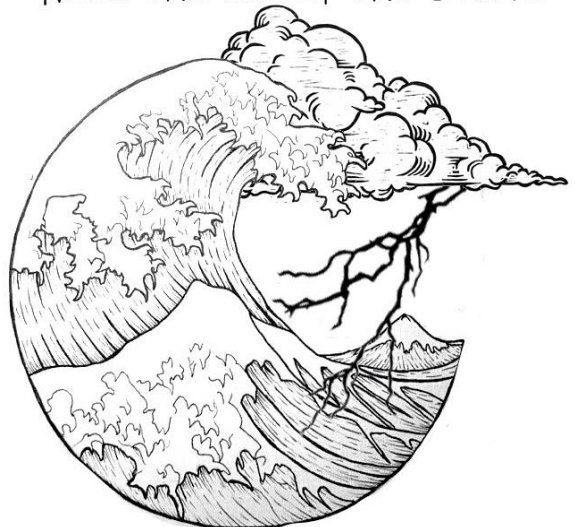

"What is the light?" "The light is sooo scary!" "Someone should do something about the light!" That's all I hear these days! Well what about my goats? I've been trying for months to get someone to buy my prized kids, but everyone so worried about that stupid light in the sky, that no one is buying anything! It's ruining my business!

~ Toth Rothe

I just wanna know when it's gonna be safe to travel to Crellmar again. Can you guys make an article about that? I haven't seen my boyfriend in months...

~ Sad Sally
