

A note from Stephanie

Years ago, when Allie was very little, I noticed she started to smell bad. I started brushing her teeth extra and bathing her extra and changing her clothes more but the smell got worse. One day in church I couldn't even stand to have her sitting on my lap and felt bad for anyone else around her. I told Scott if we couldn't get it figured out we were going to have to take her to the doctor so we started sniffing her to see where it was coming from and narrowed it down to her nose or mouth so we pinned her down to the floor and looked up her nose and sure enough there was something there. Scott got some tweezers and pulled something (I still don't know what) out. It smelled like it had started to decay.

What's the point of that story? Well, as Toby said last weekend, it makes no sense for someone to try to clean themselves up before they come to church because God does the cleaning after He catches them. Yet we often don't want to see the not yet cleaned people in our churches. We want the people who look showered and cleanly dressed. But tonight we are going into the community to do what God commissioned us as His disciples to do, be fishers of men. We will be spreading a broad net and believing that God will fill it with His catch. They might be dirty, smelly and unruly (physically and spiritually) and will want the cleaning process to be quick and easy but we don't know what all has taken up root inside them that the Spirit is dealing with. It's our job to feed them physically and Spiritually and to show them the love of God, but it is His job to do the cleaning. Let's be ready to embrace whoever God draws in and pray for them, which is our job, as the Spirit Calls, Catches, Converts, Cleanses and Commissions them, which is His job.

Hope to see you tonight, umbrellas and all!
Stephanie
