FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Jessie Ellis Receives ASQ-Certified Calibration Technician

Milwaukee, Wis., 06/02/2012 — The Certification Board of ASQ is pleased to announce that Jessie Ellis has completed the requirements to be named an ASQ-Certified Calibration Technician, or ASQ CCT.

As such, Jessie Ellis has reached a significant level of professional recognition, indicating a proficiency in and a comprehension of calibration principles and practices. Individuals who earn this certification are allowed to use “ASQ CCT” on their business cards and professional correspondence.

“Earning an ASQ certification is more than a great accomplishment - it’s a formal recognition of professionals that they have demonstrated an understanding of, and a commitment to, quality practices in their field,” said ASQ Chair Cecilia Kimberlin. “This distinction represents an investment in ones future and provides a competitive advantage to those who earn ASQ certifications.”

In order to qualify for the Certified Calibration Technician examination, an individual must have five years of work experience related to the Body of Knowledge. Certified Calibration Technicians is a professional who tests, calibrates, maintains and repairs instruments and equipment for conformance to established standards.

Since 1968, when the first ASQ certification examination was administered, more than 190,000 individuals have taken the path to reaching their goal of becoming ASQ-certified in their field or profession, including many of who have attained more than one designation.
