Chetzemoka Park was founded in 1904 on land donated by the Port Townsend City Council. It was the city's first public park and was named after the S'Klallam tribal leader who played an important role in the early history of the town. The park is to Port Townsend as Central Park is to New York.

The tour will highlight the gardens, roses, gazebo, and bluff overlooking the Admiralty Inlet. Chetzemoka Park is located at 1000 Jackson Street.
