

Subic Bay by Dan McGregor on 03/08/18

Has anyone been there in the last 20 years?

Hi Dan, Yes, I was there in January 2004. Long story, but I was in Manila for about a week with my family. So I hired a taxi to drive us up to Subic. It was a strange feeling for me to be back there after so many years (last visit was Dec 1968). The old base was open, we just drove right onto the base. Many of the old building still had the Navy numbers on them. Olongapo was a little nicer than it was back in the 60s, not quite as wild and wide open. Maybe because the Navy wasn't there anymore. We can talk sometime if you like. Take care, John

I have not been back Dan, but I've had a lot of dreams about it.

No have not, came across some PI's that live in Olongapo in Orlando Fl one year at Disney World. We talked a long time about the base. These two people were about our age and remember the same bars and bands that played there. Even little grandee island we would walk to.
