

SPOTTING SCOPES

One of the most versatile tools of the shooting trade. Good spotting scopes are worth their weight in gold. For obvious reasons spotting scopes are used to identify targets/game for shooting or hunting. They are also used for verifying shots on and off targets. Spotting scopes are one of the best tools to use when reading wind and identifying environmental impacts before you make your shot. I would recommend a scope between the 15-45x50 to 20-60x60. Finally, a good quality scope makes a difference, especially when reading wind.
