

ENVIRONMENTALS

Environmentals are other elements that have an affect on bullet flight. Temperature, wind, humidity, barometric pressure and elevation are these non-constant elements. These are pieces of the puzzle that are continually changing. Not only will these change daily but change by the hour or the minute. Learning to read and understand these non-constant variables will greatly increase your success rate.