VETERINARY SPECIALISTS

Veterinary Technician

Are you tired of being overworked, underpaid and under-appreciated? Are you struggling with compassion fatigue or burnout? PSVS was founded to offer people like you a place of employment where the support staff is as valued as the doctors. All employees at PSVS are treated with respect regardless of title or position. In addition, our staff social worker can help you remember why you joined the veterinary profession. We at PSVS want to help you re-discover your professional purpose and we promise it's not to generate revenue.

We are currently looking for a skilled licensed technician to work in our ophthalmology department. Proficiency in monitoring anesthesia and trouble-shooting anesthetic complications is a must. Experience in ophthalmology is preferred but not required. A desire to learn about veterinary ophthalmology is a must. If you wish to receive specialist level certification we will encourage and support that goal.

As a member of the ophthalmology team you will be involved in client education, ophthalmic disease testing, assisting in microsurgery, performing pre-surgical diagnostics, anesthetic monitoring and patient care. We are especially looking for someone who is proficient in anesthesia, is compassionate and who is respectful of all team members regardless of title or position.
