

954.021 ✓

A Peep into the Early History of India

From the Foundation of the Maurya Dynasty to the Downfall of the Imperial Gupta Dynasty.

(322 B. C.—circa 500 A. C.)

BY

SIR R. G. BHANDARKAR, M. A., Ph. D., K. C. I. E., etc.

WITH A PREFACE

BY

H. G. RAWLINSON,

Principal, Karnatak College, DHARWAR

1978

M.M. College Library
FATEHABAD (Hissar)

10890

BHARATIYA PUBLISHING HOUSE

B-9/45 Pilkhana,
Sonarpur
VARANASI

42-43, U.B. Jawahar Nagar,
DELHI-7

Table of Contents.

	Page
Preface	iii.
Introductory	1
The Mauryas	5
Rise of Buddhism and its Doctrines and Aims	6
Propagation of Buddhism—Asoka's Edicts	11
Extent of Asoka's Empire and the Date of his Coronation	13
Asoka, a Buddhist, but Tolerant and Liberal	15.
Asoka's Aims and Objects and the Means he Employed	16
Buddhistic Accounts	19
Successors of Asoka	19
The Sungas and the Kanvayanas	19.
The Yavanas or Bactrian Greeks	20
The Imperial Sakas	24
Northern Kshatrapas	26
Kshatrapas of Kathiawad-Malwa	28
The Rule of Succession Among the Kshatrapas and the Imperial Sakas	32
Fortunes of the Kshatrapa Family of Kathiawad-Malwa	34
Kshatrapas and Satavahanas in the Deccan	36.
The Indo-Parthians or Pahlavas	38
The Kushanas	39
The Last Three Kushanas	41
Their Dates	42
Predominance of Early Buddhism and of the Prakrit Dialects During the Period Gone Over	44
Change of Scene—The Guptas	47
Hunas or Huns, and the Aulikaras	51
Vigorous Brahmanic Revival and Renovation—Superses- sion of the Prakrits by Sanskrit	52
Revival in the South	55.

Decline of Buddhism—Rise of Mahayanism	56
The Jainas	57
Causes of the Previous Decline of Brahmanism and its Revival and Renovation at this Period	58
Patrons of the Brahmanic Revival and Renovation— Wema-Kadphises	59
The Guptas—Samudragupta and Chandragupta II or Vikramaditya Sakari	60
Kalidasa	62
Literary Revival and Renovation	64
Works on Religious Law	64
Works on the Sacrificial Ritual	67
Puranas	68
Floating Literature	69
Astronomy	70
Mimamsa	71
Logic, Dialectics and Samkhya	72
Ornate Poetry	74
