

ANCIENT INDIA

BY

VIDYA DHAR MAHAJAN,
M.A. (Hons.), Ph.D.

Formerly Professor of History,

Punjab University College, New Delhi

*Author of Constitutional History of India, India Since 1858,
Muslim Rule in India, Mughal Rule in India, The Delhi Sultanate,
British Rule in India, Modern Europe Since 1550, England Since 1838, etc.*

FIFTH EDITION

(Revised & Enlarged)

1970

S. CHAND & CO.
DELHI—NEW DELHI—JULLUNDUR—LUCKNOW—BOMBAY
CALCUTTA—MADRAS—HYDERABAD—PATNA

CONTENTS

Chapter	Pages
I. Introductory Geographical Features of India (p. 1)—Effects of Geography on History of India (pp. 1-4)—Unity of India (pp. 4-6)—Suggested Readings (p. 6).	1-6
II. Sources Historical Sense (pp. 7-8)—Literary Source (8-16)—Archaeology (17-24)—Foreign Accounts (24-26)—Tribal Legends (pp. 26-27)—Suggested Readings (p. 27).	7-27
III. The Pre-Historic People Palaeolithic Men (pp. 28-29)—Neolithic Men (pp. 29-32)—The Age of Metals (p. 32)—Suggested Readings (p. 32).	28-32
IV. Pre-Historic Races and Cultures in India View of Risley (pp. 33-34)—View of Hutton (p. 34)—Dr. Guha's view (pp. 34-35)—The Negritos (p. 35)—The Proto-Australoids (pp. 35-36)—The Dravidians (pp. 37-40)—Suggested Readings (p. 40).	33-40
V. The Indus Valley Civilisation Introductory (pp. 41-43)—Buildings (pp. 43-44)—Drainage (pp. 45)—Water Supply (p. 45)—Trade and Commerce (p. 45)—Diet (p. 45)—Animals (p. 45)—Metals (p. 45)—Dress (pp. 45-46)—Ornaments (pp. 46-47)—Amusements (p. 47)—Pottery (pp. 47-48)—Weapons (p. 48)—Art (p. 49)—Seals (pp. 49-51)—Administrative System (p. 51)—Religion (pp. 51-55)—Disposition of the dead (p. 55)—The Indus Script (pp. 55-58)—The Indus people (p. 58)—Age of the Indus Civilization (pp. 59-60)—Indus Civilization and the West (pp. 60-63)—Comparison of Indus and Vedic Civilizations (pp. 63-65)—Suggested Readings (p. 65-66).	41-66
VI. The Aryans Original Home of the Aryans (pp. 67-72)—Expansion of the Aryans in India (pp. 72-75)—Suggested Readings (p. 75).	67-75
VII. The Vedic Literature Introductory (pp. 76-77)—The Samhita (pp. 77-78)—Brahmanas (p. 78)—Aranyakas (pp. 78-79)—The Upanishads (pp. 79-83)—Vedanagas (p. 83)—Six Darśanas (pp. 84-85)—Suggested Readings (pp. 85-86).	76-86
VIII. Rigvedic India Age of the Rigveda (pp. 87-91)—Social Condition (pp. 91-94)—Economic Condition (pp. 94-95)—Religious	87-107

Chapter	Pages
Condition (pp. 95-100)—Political Condition (pp. 100-102)—Battle of the Ten Kings (pp. 102-103)—Rigvedic Polity (pp. 103-107)—Suggested Readings (p. 107).	103—114
IX. Later Vedic Civilization	115—118
Political Condition (pp. 108-110)—Social Condition (pp. 110-113)—Religious Condition (p. 113)—Economic Condition (pp. 113-114)—Suggested Readings (p. 114).
X. Age of the Sutras	119—128
Introductory (p. 115)—Panini's Grammar (pp. 115-116)—The Grihya Sutras (pp. 116-117)—The Dharma Sutras (pp. 117-118)—Suggested Readings (p. 118).
XI. The Epic Age	129—133
Introductory (pp. 119-123)—The Ramayana (p. 123)—The Mahabharata (pp. 123-124)—Historical Value of the Epics (p. 124)—Social Condition (pp. 124-125)—Economic Condition (pp. 125-126)—Religious condition (p. 126)—Political condition (pp. 126-128)—Suggested Readings (p. 128).
XII. The Age of Dharmasastras	134—142
The Manusmriti (pp. 129-132)—Yajnavalkya Smriti (p. 132)—Vishnu Smriti (pp. 132-133)—Narada Smriti (p. 133)—Suggested Readings (p. 133).
XIII. The Caste System	143—150
Origin (pp. 134-136)—Growth of the System (pp. 136-137)—Position of Various Castes (pp. 137-138)—Merits of Caste System (pp. 138-139)—Demerits of Caste System (pp. 139-141)—Suggested Readings (pp. 141-142).
XIV. Jainism	151—177
Parsvanath (p. 143)—Mahavira (pp. 143-144)—Relations between Mahavira and Parsvanath (pp. 144-145)—Gosala (p. 145)—Teachings of Mahavira (pp. 145-146)—Mahavira's followers (pp. 146-147)—Jain Buildings (pp. 147-148)—Jain Literature and Writers (pp. 148-149)—Suggested Readings (pp. 149-150).
XV. Buddhism
Condition of Hindu Society before Buddha (pp. 151-153)—Life of Buddha (pp. 153-157)—Teachings of Buddha (pp. 157-161)—Estimate of Buddha (pp. 161-163)—Progress of Buddhism (pp. 163-164)—Causes of Spread of Buddhism (pp. 164-166)—Causes of Decline and Fall of Buddhism (pp. 166-168)—Legacy of Buddhism (pp. 168-171)—Buddhism and Jainism (pp. 171-173)—Debt of Buddhism to Hinduism (pp. 173-176)—Differences between Buddhism and Hinduism (p. 176)—Suggested Readings (pp. 176-177).

Chapter	Pages
(xi)	178—207
XVI. Ancient Indian Polity	178—207
Sources (pp. 178-179)—Kingship (pp. 179-186)—Sabha and Samiti (pp. 186-187)—The Janapada and the Paura (pp. 187-189)—Ministry (pp. 189-193)—Ancient Indian Imperialism (pp. 193-196)—Republics in Ancient India (pp. 196-201)—The Licchavis (pp. 202-207)—Suggested Readings (p. 207).
XVII. Condition of Northern India from 6th to 4th Century B.C.	208—220
Political Condition (pp. 208-212)—Officials (p. 212)—Justice (pp. 212-213)—Army (p. 213)—Sources of Revenue (p. 213)—Economic Condition (pp. 213-215)—Social Condition (pp. 216-219)—Religious Condition (pp. 219-220)—Art and Architecture (p. 220)—Suggested Readings (p. 220).
XVIII. The Rise of Magadha	221—233
The Brihadrathas (p. 221)—The Haryanka Dynasty (p. 222)—Bimbisara (pp. 222-225)—Ajatasatru (pp. 225-228)—Darsaka (p. 228-229)—Udayin or Udayabhadr (pp. 229-230)—Saisunaga or Sisunaga (p. 230)—The Nandas (pp. 231-233)—Suggested Readings (p. 233).
XIX. India and Persia	234—238
Introductory (pp. 234-237)—Persian Influence on India (pp. 237-239)—Suggested Readings (p. 238).
XX. Alexander's Invasion of India	239—249
Conquest of Persia (p. 239)—Battle of Hydaspes (pp. 241-242)—Retreat (p. 242)—After Alexander's death (pp. 243-244)—Causes of defeat of Indians (pp. 244-245)—Effects of Alexander's Invasion (pp. 245-248)—Suggested Readings (pp. 248-249).
XXI. Chandragupta and Bindusara	250—274
Importance of Mauryan Dynasty (p. 250)—Sources of Mauryan History (pp. 250-265)—Ancestry of Chandragupta (pp. 265-266)—Rise of Chandragupta (pp. 266-267)—Overthrow of the Nandas (pp. 267-268)—Defeat of Seleucus (pp. 268-269)—Conquest of Western India (p. 269)—Conquest of the Deccan (pp. 269-271)—Extent of his Empire (p. 271)—Estimate (pp. 271-272)—Bindusara (pp. 272-273)—Suggested Readings (pp. 273-274).
XXII. Asoka (127 B.C.—236 B.C.)	275—297
Early Life of Asoka (pp. 275-276)—Kalinga War (pp. 276-277)—Asoka's Religion (pp. 277-278)—Measures for Spread of Buddhism (pp. 278-280)—Change in Foreign Policy (p. 280)—Asoka's Ideal of Kingship (pp. 280-281)—Extent of Asoka's Empire (p. 281)—Inscriptions of Asoka (pp. 281-287)—Estimate (pp. 287-290)—Successors of Asoka (pp. 290-292)—Downfall of Mauryas (pp. 292-297)—Suggested Readings (p. 297).

Chapter	Pages
XXIII. Mauryan Administration and Art Mauryan Administration (pp. 296-303)—Mauryan Art (pp. 303-309)—Suggested Readings (pp. 309-310).	298—310
XXIV. The Sungas and Kanvas The Sungas (p. 311)—Origin of Sungas (pp. 311-312)—Pushyasmitta (pp. 312-316)—Successors of Pushyasmitta (pp. 316-317)—Importance of the Sunga Period (pp. 317-319)—King Kharvela of Kalings (pp. 320-322)—The Kanvas or Kanvayans (pp. 322-324)—Suggested Readings (p. 324).	311—324
XXV. The Satavahans or Andhras Sources (p. 326)—Original Home of the Satavahans (pp. 326-328)—Chronology (pp. 327-328)—Satakarni I (p. 328)—Kanha or Krishna (pp. 329-330)—Gautamiputra Sibi Satakarni (pp. 329-330)—The Deccan during the Satavahana period (pp. 332-337)—Suggested Readings (p. 337)	325—337
XXVI. The Bactrian Greeks in India Bactria (p. 338)—Seleucus (p. 338)—Antiochus II (p. 338)—Diodotus I (pp. 339-340)—Diodotus II (p. 340)—Euthydemus I (p. 340)—Invasion of India by Antiochus III (340-341)—Demetrius (pp. 341-342)—Eucratides (pp. 342-343)—Heliocles (p. 343)—Apollodotus (p. 344)—Menander (pp. 344-347)—Successors of Menander (p. 347)—Asiaticus (p. 347)—Hermaeus (pp. 347-349)—Suggested Readings (p. 349).	338—349
XXVII. The Sakas and the Pahlavas Early History of the Sakas (pp. 350-353)—Maues (p. 353)—Azos (p. 353)—Azilises (pp. 353-354)—Gondophares (pp. 354-356)—Successors of Gondophares (p. 356)—The Saka Satrapal Houses (p. 356)—Northern Satraps of Taxila (pp. 356-357)—Western Satraps of Maharashtra (pp. 357-358)—Western Satraps of Ujjain (p. 358)—Rudradamana (pp. 358-359)—Rudrasena I (p. 359)—Suggested Readings (pp. 359-360)	350—360
XXVIII. Rise and Fall of the Kushana Empire Importance of Kushana Period (p. 361)—Sources (pp. 361-362)—Rise of the Kushanas (pp. 362-363)—Kadphises I (pp. 363-364)—Kadphises II (pp. 364-367)—Date of Accession of Kanishka (pp. 367-370)—Wars of Kanishka (pp. 370-371)—Kanishka's Religion (pp. 372-373)—Patron of Art and Learning (p. 373-375)—Death of Kanishka (p. 375)—Estimate of Kanishka (pp. 375-376)—Downfall of the Kushan Empire (pp. 376-379)—India under the Kushanas (pp. 379-385)—Gandhara Art (pp. 385-389)—Suggested Readings (p. 389).	361—389
XXIX. India and the Western World India and Persia (p. 390)—India and Greece (pp. 390-391)—India and Egypt (p. 391)—India and the Roman Empire (pp. 391-392)—Influence of India on the West (pp. 392-394)—Influence of the West on India (pp. 394-396)—Suggested Readings (p. 397).	390—397

Chapter	Pages
XXX. The Nagas Introductory (p. 398)—Nava Naga (p. 399)—Virasena (p. 399)—Bhava Naga (p. 399)—Suggested Readings (p. 401).	398—401
XXXI. The Gupta Empire Sources of the Gupta Period (pp. 402-406)—Condition of Northern India Before Rise of the Guptas (pp. 406-409)—Origin and Foundation of Gupta Dynasty (pp. 409-410)—Sri Gupta (p. 410)—Ghatotkcha (pp. 410-411)—Chandragupta I (pp. 411-412)—The Gupta Era (pp. 413-414)—Samudragupta Parakramanka (pp. 414-423)—The Allahabad Pillar Inscription (pp. 414-417)—His Succession (p. 417)—His Conquests (p. 418)—Conquests in the South (pp. 418-419)—Conquests in the North (pp. 419-423)—Samudragupta and Foreign States (pp. 423-424)—Extent of his Empire (pp. 424-425)—Horse Sacrifice (p. 425)—Coins (425-427)—Personal Accomplishments (pp. 427-428)—Estimate of Samudragupta (p. 428)—Rama Gupta (pp. 429-433)—Chandragupta II (pp. 433-442)—Chief Cities in the time of Chandragupta II (p. 438)—Visit of Fahien during Chandragupta II's reign (pp. 438-441)—Estimate of Chandragupta II (pp. 441-442)—Kumara Gupta I (pp. 442-444)—Problem of Succession after Kumara Gupta I (pp. 444-447)—Skanda Gupta (pp. 447-450)—Successors of Skanda Gupta (pp. 450-454)—Causes of Downfall of the Gupta Empire (pp. 454-457)—The Hunas (pp. 457-461)—Tormana (pp. 457-458)—Mihirkula (pp. 458-460)—Huna Civilisation (pp. 460-461)—Suggested Readings (pp. 461-462).	402—462
XXXII. India During the Gupta Age The Gupta Administration (pp. 463-472)—Personal Religion of the Gupta Rulers (pp. 472-476)—Revival of Hinduism (pp. 476-478)—Literature of Gupta Period (pp. 478-481)—The Gupta Art (pp. 481-488)—Gupta Coinage (pp. 488-491)—Social and Economic Conditions in Gupta Period (pp. 491-493)—Salient Features of Gupta Age (pp. 493-495)—Suggested Readings (pp. 495-496).	463—495
XXXIII. Ajanta, Ellora, Amaravati and Nagarjunakonda Ajanta Caves (pp. 497-504)—Ellora Caves (pp. 504-506)—Amaravati (506-508)—Nagarjunakonda (pp. 508-509)—Suggested Readings (p. 509).	497—509
XXXIV. The Vakatakas Origin of the Vakatakas (p. 510)—Vindhyasakti, the Founder of Vakatakas and his successors (pp. 510-514)—Suggested Readings (pp. 514-515).	510
XXXV. The Maitrakas and the Maukharis Maitrakas of Valabhi (pp. 516-519)—The Maukharis (pp. 519-521)—Harivarman (p. 519)—Aditya-varman (p. 519)—Ishvar-varman (p. 520)—Isana-varman (p. 520)—Grahavarman (p. 521)—Suggested Readings (p. 521).	516—521

Sources (pp. 522-528)—Account of Hiuen Tsang (pp. 523-527)—Bana's Harshacharita (pp. 527-528)—Harsha's Ancestors (pp. 528-530)—Military campaigns of Harsha (pp. 530-533)—Sasanka (p. 530)—Kamarupa (p. 531)—War with Pulakesin II (pp. 531-532)—Valabhi (p. 532)—Sudb (p. 532)—Nepal and Kashmir (pp. 532-533)—Orissa (p. 533)—Extent of his Empire (pp. 533-534)—Relations with China (p. 534)—Harsha's Religion (p. 534)—Kanauj Assembly (pp. 534-535)—Prayaga Assembly (pp. 535-537)—Coins and Seals of Harsha (p. 537)—Harsha as Author and Patron of Learning (pp. 537-538)—Harsha's Administration (pp. 538-541)—Estimate of Harsha (pp. 541-542)—The Nalanda University (pp. 542-544)—Itsing's Account of India (pp. 544-547)—Suggested Readings (p. 547).

522-547

Introductory (p. 548)—Kamarupa (pp. 548-549)—Nepal (p. 549)—Kashmir (pp. 549-550)—Origin of the Rajputs (pp. 550-552)—Rajput Culture and Civilisation (pp. 552-554)—Rajput Government (pp. 554-555)—Social Life (pp. 555-557)—Economic Condition (p. 557)—Rajput Literature (pp. 558-559)—Art of the Rajput Period (pp. 559-560)—The Pratihara Empire (pp. 560-561)—Nagabhata I (p. 561)—Varsaraja (pp. 561-562)—Nagabhata II (p. 562)—Mihirabhoja (p. 562-563)—Mahendrapala I (p. 563)—Mahipala (p. 563-564)—Successors of Mahipala (p. 564)—The Gahadavalas of Kanauj (pp. 564-565)—The Chandellas of Bundelkhand (pp. 565-566)—Chedi Kingdom of Kalachuri (p. 566)—The Paramaras of Malava (p. 566)—The Chauhans of Ajmer and Delhi (pp. 566-567)—Rise of the Palas (p. 567)—Dharmapala (pp. 567-569)—Devapala (569-570)—Vigrahapala (p. 570)—Narayanapala (p. 570)—Rajyapala, Gopala II and Vigrahapala II (p. 570)—Mahipala I (pp. 570-571)—Nayapala (pp. 571-572)—Vigrahapala III (p. 572)—Mahipala II (p. 572)—Ramapala (pp. 572-573)—Successors of Ramapala (p. 573)—Suggested Readings (pp. 573-574).

548-574

Origin of the Rashtrakutas (p. 575)—Rise of the Rashtrakuta dynasty (pp. 575-576)—Dantidurga (p. 576)—Krishna I (pp. 576-577)—Govinda II (p. 577)—Dhruva (pp. 577-578)—Govinda III (pp. 578-579)—Amoghavarsha or Sarva (pp. 579-581)—Krishna II (p. 581)—Indra III (p. 581)—Krishna III (p. 582)—Khattiga (p. 582)—Karkka II (pp. 582-583)—Rashtrakuta Administration (pp. 583-586)—Religious Condition (pp. 586-588)—Suggested Readings (p. 588).

575-588

Origin of the Chalukyas (pp. 589-590)—Rise of Early Western Chalukyas of Badami (pp. 590-591)—Kirtivarman I (p. 591)—Mangalesa (p. 591)—Pulakesin

589-602

II (pp. 592-595)—Vikramaditya I (p. 595)—Vinayaditya (p. 595)—Vijayaditya (pp. 595-596)—Vikramaditya II (p. 596)—Kirtivarman II (p. 596)—Later Western Chalukyas of Kalyani (p. 596)—Someshvara I (p. 597)—Vikramaditya VI (p. 598)—The Eastern Chalukyas (p. 598)—Jayasimha I (p. 598)—Indravarman (p. 598)—Vishnuvardhana II (p. 599)—Jayasimha II (p. 599)—Bhima (p. 599)—Kulottunga Chola (p. 600)—The Deccan under the Chalukyas (pp. 600-602)—Suggested Readings (p. 602).

XL. The Pallavas

Origin of the Pallavas (pp. 603-607)—Sivaskandavarman (p. 607)—Vishnugopa (p. 607)—Simhavishnu Avanisimha (p. 607)—Mahendra-varman (p. 608)—Narasimha-varman I (p. 608)—Mahendra-varman II (p. 609)—Paramesvara-varman I (p. 609)—Narsimharman II (p. 609)—Nandi-varman (p. 609)—Literature during Pallava Period (pp. 610-611)—Art and Architecture of the Pallavas (pp. 611-615)—Suggested Readings (pp. 615-616).

603-616

XLI. The Cholas

Sources (pp. 617-619)—Rise of the Cholas (p. 619)—Karikala (p. 619)—Nedumudikilli (p. 619)—Vijayala (p. 620)—Aditya I (p. 620)—Parantaka I (p. 620)—Rajaraja, the Great (pp. 620-623)—Rajendra I (pp. 623-625)—Rajadhiraja I (p. 625)—Rajendra II (p. 625)—Vira Rajendra (pp. 625-626)—Kulottunga I (p. 626)—Vikramachola (pp. 627-628)—Chola Administration (pp. 628-632)—Maritime Commerce and Naval Activities (pp. 632-633)—Social and Religious Conditions (pp. 633-634)—Chola Literature (pp. 634-635)—Chola Art (pp. 635-640)—Chola Painting (pp. 640-641)—Suggested Readings (p. 641).

617-641

Chapter XLII—The Tripartite Struggle for Supremacy

Pratiharas, Palas and Rashtrakutas (p. 642)—Achievements of Vatsaraja (p. 642)—Part played by Dhruva (p. 643)—Nagabhata II and Gobinda III (pp. 643-5)—Rambhadra (p. 645)—Mihirabhoja (pp. 645-7)—Mahendrapala I (p. 647)—Indra III (pp. 647-9)—Vinayakpala (p. 649)—Krishna III (p. 649)—Decline of the Pratiharas (p. 650)—End of the Rashtrakutas (p. 650)—Suggested Readings (p. 651).

642-651

Chapter XLIII—The Pandyas

652-55

Chapter XLIV—Greater India

656-685

Expansion of India (pp. 656-7)—Causes of expansion (pp. 658-9)—Champa (pp. 659-62)—Java (pp. 662-7)—Sumatra and Suvarnadvipa (pp. 667-8)—Borneo (pp. 668-9)—Bali (pp. 669-675)—Siam or Thailand (p. 675)—Malaya Peninsula (pp. 675-6)—Ceylon (p. 677)—Burma (pp. 677-9)—China (pp. 679-82)—Korea (p. 682)—Japan (p. 682)—Tibet (pp. 682-3)—Suggested Readings (pp. 684-5).

Chapter XLV—Buddhist Art

686-702

Buddhist art and Asoka (pp. 686-7)—Stupas (pp. 687-8)—

Chapter

Pages

Bharhut (p. 688-9) - Besnagar (p. 689) - Bodh Gaya (p. 689) - Sanchi (pp. 689-90) - Mathura (pp. 690-91) - Amaravati (pp. 691-2) - Gandhara art (pp. 692-6) - Gupta art (pp. 696-7) - Ajanta frescoes (pp. 697-9) - Buddhist art in Ceylon (pp. 698-700) - Buddhist art in Greater India (pp. 700.1) - Suggested Readings (pp. 701-2).

Appendix A. Modern Historians of Ancient India
Index

703-705
706-711