

L.G. Churchward

Contemporary Soviet Government

Fully revised second edition

342-947

Contents

Glossary	xiii
Preface	xvii
Preface to the revised edition	xix
Map	xx-xxi
1 ELEMENTS OF SOVIET POLITICS	1
Some difficulties of comparison	1
Characteristics of Soviet politics	4
Important issues of Soviet politics	10
The problem of assessment	14
Continuity and tradition	17
2 PRELUDE TO REVOLUTION	22
The revolutionary tradition	22
The Decembrists	26
The Populist Movement	28
The Russian Social Democratic Labour Party (RSDLP)	30
Bolsheviks and Mensheviks	32
The Socialist Revolutionary Party	36
3 THE BOLSHEVIK REVOLUTION	40
The 1905 Revolution	40
The March Revolution	41
The Provisional Government	42
The November Revolution	45
Reasons for the Bolshevik success	50
4 THE UNFINISHED REVOLUTION	53
Revolutionary stages	53
The foundation of the Soviet socialist state	54
War Communism	57
The New Economic Policy	58
Socialist industrialization and collectivization	60
The consolidation of socialism	63
The establishment of the new state structure	64
The war period	64
Post-war reconstruction	66
Further development of the socialist system since 1953	67

CONTENTS

5	THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SOVIET STATE SYSTEM	75
	Continuity and change	75
	The theory of Soviets	76
	The Soviet State 1918-24	78
	The establishment of the USSR	79
	The 1936 Constitution	80
	Amendments to the 1936 Constitution	82
	A new Constitution?	85
6	THE THEORY OF THE SOVIET STATE	88
	Basis of the theory	88
	Stalin's theory	89
	Revisions to Stalin's theory	91
	Limitations of contemporary theory	96
7	THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM AND THE ELECTORATE	103
	Requirements for free elections	103
	Soviet electoral provisions	104
	The role of Soviet elections	110
	Public opinion	112
8	THE SUPREME SOVIET OF THE USSR	117
	Composition	117
	Powers and functions	119
	Financial powers	121
	Legislative powers	124
	The committee system	126
	Questions	129
9	THE PRESIDIUM AND THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS	133
	The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet	133
	The USSR Council of Ministers	135
	Types of legislation	139
	Executive and administrative functions	141
	The Presidium of the Council of Ministers	141
10	THE ECONOMIC ROLE OF THE SOVIET STATE	145
	Extent of state economic activity	145
	Characteristics of Soviet economic planning	146
	Principles and objectives of planning	147
	Machinery of planning	148

CONTENTS

The Economic Plan	150
Individualism and incentives	151
Compulsion in the Soviet economic system	153
Efficiency of Soviet economic planning	154
11 SOVIET FEDERALISM	157
Meaning	157
The unified state budget	160
Assessment of the Soviet budgetary system	163
The role of Union-Republican government	164
Conclusions	167
12 SOVIET LOCAL GOVERNMENT	172
The importance of local government	172
Structure	173
Role of local Soviets	179
Party control of local Soviets	183
Consequences of Party control	187
13 PARTY AND CLASS	192
The Communist Party as a working-class party	192
The 'vanguard' party	195
The Party and the working class	197
Soviet trade unions	199
14 THE COMMUNIST PARTY OF THE SOVIET UNION	206
The theory of Communist Party organization	206
Inner-party democracy	207
The record of the CPSU	211
A return to inner-party democracy?	214
15 PARTY-STATE RELATIONS	223
Theory	223
Practice	224
Press, Radio and Publications	227
Elections	228
Soviets	228
Policy formulation	229
Executive and administrative functions	232
The position of the Army	234
Law Enforcement Agencies	235
16 SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY	238
The control of foreign policy in the USSR	238
Formulating agencies	240

CONTENTS

Ratifying agencies	245
Agencies of influence on world opinion	246
The role of Marxist Ideology	249
The pursuit of the national interest	252
17 SOVIET DEMOCRACY	257
The Soviet concept of democracy	257
Contemporary theory of Soviet democracy	262
Does Soviet practice conform to the Soviet concept of democracy?	267
Soviet democracy is based on socialism?	267
Mass participation	269
Democratic elements in the governmental system	271
Guarantees of individual rights	273
The popular basis of the Communist Party?	274
Conclusions	275
18 THE POST-STALIN ERA	278
The Soviet power struggle	278
Stalinists versus anti-Stalinists	281
A reconstruction of the power struggle since 1953	283
The fall of Khrushchev	286
A perspective on recent changes in the USSR	294
The speed of political change	297
Some significant changes in Soviet domestic policies since 1953	298
Conclusion	304
	308-40
Appendices	341
Bibliography	357
Supplementary Bibliography	361
Index	