

3497

HINDU POLITY

K. P. JAYASWAL

THE
BANGALORE PRINTING & PUBLISHING CO., LTD.
(THE BANGALORE PRESS)
BANGALORE CITY

SCHEME OF THE WORK

	PAGES
I. INTRODUCTORY: SCOPE AND SOURCES	3-11
II. VEDIC ASSEMBLIES	12-20
III. HINDU REPUBLICS:
(a) RISE AND PROSPERITY	21-155
(b) DECLINE AND DISAPPEARANCE	156-169
(c) THEIR SYSTEM AND ETHNOLOGY	170-179
IV. HINDU MONARCHY AND IMPERIALISM	183-363

DETAILED CONTENTS

PUBLISHERS' NOTE TO THE FOURTH EDITION	vii
PUBLISHERS' NOTE TO THE THIRD EDITION	vii
PUBLISHERS' NOTE TO THE SECOND EDITION	vii
PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION	viii
PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION	ix
APPRECIATIONS	xxiii
OPINIONS	xxxv

PART I

CHAPTER	PAGES
I. SCOPE AND SOURCES	3-11
Scope of the book; Sources; Technical Literature; Its early date; Terms for Technical Literature; The Book on Politics in the Mahābhārata : 400 B.C.-500 A.C.; Works of the fourth and fifth Centuries A.C.; Compilations by Hindu Lawyers of fourteenth to eighteenth Centuries A.C.; Politics in the Purānas, sixth and seventh Centuries A.C.; Politics in the books of Dharma (Law) 400 B.C.-500 A.C.; Works of early Middle Ages; Politico-ethical and politico-religious books; Addendum I on the growth of Political Science Literature after the third Century A.D.
II. SAMITI—THE SOVEREIGN ASSEMBLY OF VEDIC TIMES	12-16
Samiti represented the whole People; Its functions; The King and Samiti; Deliberations; Non-political business of the Samiti; Samiti an institution of developed society; President of the Samiti; Constitution of the Samiti; Historical career of the Samiti.

CHAPTER	PAGES
III. THE SABHĀ	17-20
Sabhā a distinguished popular body; Its resolutions; Composition of the Sabhā; Judicial Function of the Sabhā; Sabhā a later Rig-vedic Institution; Vidatha and Senā; Corporate tendency of post-Vedic life.
IV. RISE OF HINDU REPUBLICS AND HINDU TERMS FOR REPUBLICS	21-27
Republics generally post-Vedic institutions; Ancient terms for Hindu republics; Significance of 'Gaṇa'; Saṃgha; Controversy on Gaṇa in England; Pāṇini on Gaṇa; The Jātakas on Gaṇa; The Mahābhārata on Gaṇa; Hindu Law and Amara-kośa on Gaṇa; the Avadānaśataka on Gaṇa; Jaina definition; Conclusion on Gaṇa.
V. REPUBLICS IN PĀṆINI	28-39
Pāṇini on Saṃgha; Castes in a Saṃgha; Kātyāyana on Saṃgha; Ayudhajīvin Saṃghas named in Pāṇini; Interpretation of 'Ayudhajīvin'; Description of Greek Writers; Identification of the Vāhika land; Other republics in Pāṇini; The Andhaka-Vṛishṇi Saṃgha; Constitutional Significance of 'Rājanya'; Federal Constitution of the Andhaka-Vṛishṇis; Vṛishṇi coins and Rājanya coins; State-arms of the republics; Political Nikāyas; A species of Saṃgha.
VI. REPUBLICAN ORIGIN OF BUDDHIST SAṂGHA AND REPUBLICS IN BUDDIST LITERATURE (500-400 B.C.)	40-48
Buddhist Saṃgha borrowed from Political Saṃgha; Recorded republics; Their administrative procedure; Lichchhavi constitution; Lichchhavi safeguards for liberty of the citizen; Federal Council of the Lichchhavis and the Mallas; Its Composition.
VII. REPUBLICS IN THE ARTHA-ŚĀSTRA (325-300 B.C.)	49-53
'King'-consul Republics; Changes from Monarchy to Republic; Mallas, Kurus, Kukuras; Nation-in-arms Republics; Kshudrakas and Mālavas; Surāshṭras; Kshatriyas; and Śreṇis.

CHAPTER	PAGES
VIII. HINDU REPUBLICS IN GREEK WRITERS (C. 325 B.C.)	54-68
Megasthenes' Two Divisions of the Country— Monarchical and Republican; Kathaians; Un-named Republics; Adrestai; Saubhūti (or Subhūta); A great Republic on the Beas; Kshudrakas and Mālavas, and Sibis; Āpiśali, Pāṇini and Patañjali on the above; Greek Writers on the above; Agra-Sreṇis; Ambashṭhas; Kshatriyas; Ossadioi; Musicani; Brachmanoi; Patala; States ambiguously described.
IX. CONSTITUTIONAL SURVEY OF THE HINDU REPUBLICS IN GREEK WRITERS	69-74
Democracy; Elected 'King' President; Second Chamber; Executive authority; Aristocratic democracy; Large Parliaments; Hindu term for aristocratic constitution; Culture in these republics; Influence of Polity on Physique.
X. TECHNICAL HINDU CONSTITUTIONS	75-85
Technical Constitutions; Bhaujya Constitution; Svārājya Constitution; Vairājya Constitution; The Madras and their Capital; Rāshṭrika Constitution; Pettanika; Dvairājya Constitution; The Non-ruler State; Ugra and Rājanya forms of government; Sacrament of rulership essential in every constitution.
XI. PROCEDURE OF DELIBERATION IN HINDU REPUBLICS	86-97
Buddhist Saṃgha based on political Saṃgha; Seats; Motion; Resolution; Quorum; Whip; Consequence of disregarding procedure; Votes: Votes of absentees; Ballot-voting: procedure-of-majority; Pointless Speeches and Delegation Committee; Principle of representation; Res Judicata ; Procedure of Censure; Act of Indemnity; Clerks of the House; Historical significance of the terms and procedure; Jātakas and Referendum.
XII. FRANCHISE AND CITIZENSHIP	98-100
Basis of Franchise; Outsiders eligible to Citizenship in republics; Bhakti to Arjuna and Vāsudeva.

CHAPTER	JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION AND LAWS OF REPUBLICS	PAGES
XIII.	Kulika Court; Samaya , the laws of the Gaṇas .	101-102
XIV.	CHARACTERISTICS OF REPUBLICS ACCORDING TO THE MAHĀBHĀRATA Characteristics of Gaṇas in the Mahābhārata ; Leagues: their dangers; Good points in Gaṇas ; Weak points in Gaṇas and how to avoid them; Internal danger; Equality in Gaṇas and its effect; Confederacy recommended.	103-108
XV.	FORMATION OF NEW REPUBLICS New Religious Gaṇas ; Historical instances of new republics; Artificial Stage; Republican—a post- tribal period in India; Artificial political 'tribes', not ethnic tribes; Distinction between tribal and artificial organisations.	109-112
XVI.	A RETROSPECT OF THE PERIOD OF RISE Aitareya Brāhmaṇa to Kautilya.	113-114
XVII.	REPUBLICS UNDER THE MAURYAS Policy of Maurya Imperialism towards Republics; Republics under Aśoka; Meaning of 'aparānta'; 'Rāja-vishayas'; Constitution of the Nābha- paṅktis; Nābhaka; Pulindas; Andhras; Yavanas of Aśoka; Kabul Yavanas; Akoubhi; Yavanas, Kambojas, Andhras, and Pulindas in Manu and Mahābhārata ; Republican coins of the Maurya period; Addendum II on location of Hindu Republics in Aśoka's Inscriptions.	115-142
XVIII.	REPUBLICS IN ŚUNGA TIMES AND LATER Migration of the stronger republics to Rajputana; Yaudheyas; Yaudheyas and Sālankāyanas; Yaudheya constitution from Monumental Records; Their end; Madras; Mālavas and Kshudrakas; Mālavās (contd.); Śibis; Arjunāyanas; The meaning of republican migration; Rajputana republics in the Mahābhārata ; Kukuras; Vrishṇis; Foreign barbarians of the first century B.C.; Decay of the older Punjab republics; Rājanyas; Mahārāja-Janapada; Vāmarathas and Sālanka- yanas; Audumbaras; Nāgas and Mālavas; Other Republics.	143-155

CHAPTER	DISAPPEARANCE OF THE REPUBLICS	PAGES
XIX.	Guptas and republics; Pushyamitras; Exit; Addendum III on location of the Guptan Republics.	156-161
XX.	CRITICISM ON HINDU REPUBLICAN SYSTEMS Moral assets; Principle of equality; Successful administration; Military System; Industrial System; The type of citizen; Separation of powers; Philosophic basis; Republican theories; Indivi- dualism; Social Contract; Longevity; Weak points in Hindu Republics; Mahābhārata on Arājaka states; Personal rivalry and greed of power in republics; Dissension leading to the breaking up of Gaṇas .	162-169
XXI.	ETHNOLOGY OF THE REPUBLICS Question raised by Mr. Smith; Instance of Chumbi Government; Criticism; Bharhut and Sāñchi Sculptors; Mr. Smith's error; Alleged Mongolian basis of Indian population in early centuries A.C.; Nationality of Lichchhavis; Mr. Smith's vision— of 'close' resemblance between Lichchhavi and Tibetan Criminal Procedures; Lichchhavi Criminal Procedure; Derivation of Lichchhavi from Lichchhavin; Mallas; Nationality of Śākyas; Obsolete custom of sister-marriage amongst Śākyas; Evidence of the Greeks; Evidence of names and orthodox literature.	170-179
PART II
XXII.	HINDU MONARCHY—ANTIQUITY AND THEORY OF ORIGIN Rājān or King: Antiquity of Hindu Monarchy; Hindu Theories on the Origin of Kingship; Vedic theory: origin in war; Scientists' Theory of Contract: Theory of elective kingship.	183-185
XXIII.	VEDIC KING AND HIS ELECTION King's election and his position; Sole taker of taxes; 'King-makers': election for lifetime; Depo- sition and re-election; His duty; Germs of later political philosophy.	186-191

CHAPTER		PAGE
	of State and its Composition; Paura-Jānapada and 'Mantri-Parishad'; 'Tirthas'; Three classes of Ministers; Civil List and King's salary.
XXXI.	COUNCIL OF MINISTERS (Contd.)—GOVERNMENT ..	294-309
	Duty of the Ministry; Procedure of Business in the Ministry; King's 'incapacity' to criticize resolution of the Ministry; Resolution with king's fiat was the 'real king'; Megasthenes on Ministry's jurisdiction; Agreement between Bhāradvāja and Megasthenes; Working of the constitution in Asoka's reign; Junior ministers or under-secretaries; Transfers; Caste representation in Ministry; Official designations in Gupta times; Charters countersigned by Ministers; Illustrations of the practice from Ceylon.
XXXII.	LAW AND ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE ..	310-318
	King under the Law; Judiciary and Executive separate; Sabhā or composition of the jury; King-in-Council as Judge; Justice administered in King's name; Records kept; Proper Justice and fall in litigation; Sudatta vs. Prince Jeta; Ministers of Law and Justice; Sabhā (Law Court) and its Position.
XXXIII.	TAXATION ..	319-326
	Fixed Taxes: Legal effect; Taxes as King's wages; Divine theory of Taxation; Protection and Allegiance; Canons of Taxation.
XXXIV.	ECONOMICS IN GOVERNMENT AND THEORY OF OWNERSHIP IN LAND ..	327-338
	Economic enemies; Economics in Government; Policy towards the mercantile element of population; State Industries; Indirect taxation the keynote of the policy; Mines; Hindu theory on proprietorship in land; Colebrooke's discussion of Mimāṃsā; Conquest and land; Discussion by Prime Minister Mādhava; The Bhāttadīpikā on the subject: The view of Law and Mimāṃsā in agreement with constitutional theory; Jātaka on kingship; Coronation rites and King's position; Inscriptions; Indianists' presentation of the 'Native Law' on the subject; Artha-Sāstra Commentary's Sloka.

CHAPTER		PAGE
XXXV.	POSITION OF THE HINDU KING ..	339-341
	Civil List; King master of no subject; King constitutionally a servant—morally master; His utility.
XXXVI.	CHARACTER OF HINDU MONARCHY ..	342-344
	State a trust; A Civil State; Paramount position of Law; Conquest and sense of Justice; Why no inclination for foreign conquest; Longevity a result of Civil Polity.
XXXVII.	HINDU IMPERIAL SYSTEMS ..	345-350
	Ādhipatyā and Sāravabhauma; Sāmrajya System; Later history of Monarchical Imperialism; Chakravartin; Chakravartin System vs. Federal System and Ādhipatyā; Centralization; An Imperial (Gupta) System of Compromise; Constitution under the Second and Third Empires.
XXXVIII.	REVIVAL OF HINDU POLITY ..	351
	Period of darkness and disruption; Hindu revival under Sivāji and the Sikhs; Causes of failure.
XXXIX.	CONCLUSION ..	352-353
	Longevity of Civil Polity—in India, Babylon and China; Test of a Polity; Golden Age of Hindu Polity—in the Future; Reformation of the Hindu; Hindu's Past History and his Future.
APPENDIX
A.	THE MAHĀBHĀRATA ON THE ANDHAKA-VRISHṆI-SAMGHA ..	354-360
	Text and Translation of Sānti-Parvan , Ch. 81; The importance of the discussion.
B.	LIST OF INDIAN REPUBLICS DISCUSSED IN PART I ..	361-363
C.	ADDITIONAL NOTES ON PART I (1924) ..	364-381
	Arthasāstra (Kautiliya)—Its authorship and Date; Authorship; Jolly's arguments; Date; Arguments for the third century A.C. Date; Works of the fourth-fifth century A.C.; and the date of the Kāmandakiya; Pushkara; Fourteenth-Eighteenth Century Digests; Works in Vernaculars; Village fined; Na sū Sabhā ; Gana; State-arms of the republics; Decisions on rolls (Book of Presidents); Ashta-kulaka; Lechchhavi; Savani, franchise'; Citizens vs. non-citizens; Madra country; and Kanet; Vāhikan physique; Mālava coins; Śalākā; Yaudheya Coin-legends; Mālava coins; Freedom in preference to home; Sanakānikas; Ethnology of the republicans.

APPENDIX

D. ADDITIONAL NOTES ON PART II (1924)

Sreṣṭhin or President of the Town; Pratinidhi; Council of State; Representative of the People; Mahattarāh, and Gupta Government.

BIBLIOGRAPHY (with Abbreviations used)

INDEX 384-394