

NON APPEASEMENT

A New Direction for Indian Foreign Policy

M. L. SONDHI

ABHINAV PUBLICATIONS

New DELHI

1972

Contents

PREFACE

INTRODUCTION 1

Indian Non Alignment : A closed system in a world change 3

A Bipolar View 5

India's Positive Ideological Role 9

Soviet Union and India : The limits of involvement 13

The Asian Setting 18

Nuclear Option 21

LINKAGE BETWEEN INDIAN FOREIGN POLICY AND THE COLD WAR 27

Criterion of Self-interest 29

The New Asian and African States 30

Interraction of Politics and Technological Developments 31

Dysfunctions of India's Commonwealth Membership 40

Peaceful Coexistence 42

NUCLEARISATION AND INDIAN FOREIGN POLICY 47

World Nuclear Situation 49

Non-proliferation, National politics and Foreign Policy 55

India's Conduct as a Nuclear Power—a scenario 61

PERCEPTION, POLICY AND NATIONAL IMAGE—SOME CASE STUDIES IN THE EUROPEAN ENVIRONMENT 67

India and the European Idea 69

Yugoslavia 71

Czechoslovakia 87

India's Image in Eastern Europe 95

France, West Germany and European Perspectives	102
PEACE ORDER IN ASIA	111
The Communist Chinese Paradox in its multi-dimensional dimensionality	113
Tibet : priority for Indian Foreign Policy	119
India, United States and "Vietnamisation"	122
The Asian Dimension of Bangla Desh	129
India and Japan : towards a constructive dialogue	131
The Indo-Soviet Treaty and the Future	137
A Note on the Political Relevance of Oceanic Asia	142
NON APPEASEMENT : A RECONSTRUCTION OF INDIAN FOREIGN POLICY	151
The Use of Indian Power	153
Indian National Interest and International Order	156
Hierarchical Structure	158
Time Perspective	159
APPENDIX	169
1. Documentary Analysis of the Lusaka Conference	171
2. Text of Indo-Soviet Treaty	262
3. U. N. General Assembly Resolutions on Indo-Pak War	269
4. Prime Minister's Indira Gandhi's Call to the Nation	272
5. Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Letter to President Nixon on Bangladesh; Indo-Pak War, and Indo- United States Relations.	282
6. Security Council Resolution on Indo-Pak Conflict	286