

Four BEHIND THE COST CURVES:
PRODUCTION CHOICES AND COSTS 82

Finding the Cheapest Method: An Example. Implications of the Solution. Substitution and Factor Prices. The "Law of Diminishing Returns." Marginal Products and Factor Prices. The Production Function. Production Functions and Supply Curves. Demand Curves for Factors. Social Implications. Summary. Main Concepts Introduced.

Five BEHIND THE DEMAND CURVES 107

Choice Between Two Commodities: Utility Maximization. Some Technical Concepts. Examples: Substitutes and Complements. More Than Two Commodities. Response to Changes in the Budget. Response to Price Changes: Demand Curves. Market Demand Curves. An Older Approach: Marginal Utility. "A Grain of Salt." Implications of the Analysis. Summary and Review of Concepts.

Six MONOPOLY AND OLIGOPOLY 143

The Genesis of Monopoly and Oligopoly. Monopoly. Oligopoly. Summary: An Appraisal of Markets. Appendix: Marginal Revenue, Elasticity, and Monopolist's Profits.

Seven ECONOMIC EFFICIENCY 170

Some Aspects of Social Decisions. Some Criteria for Economic Performance. Efficiency in Distribution. Efficiency in Production. Consumer Sovereignty. Aggregative Efficiency. Main Concepts Introduced.

Eight THE OPERATION OF THE PRICE SYSTEM 196

Markets and Efficient Distribution. Markets and Efficient Production. Markets and Consumers' Sovereignty. Markets and Aggregative Efficiency. Markets and Dynamic Efficiency. The Social Value of Economic Efficiency. Summary.

Nine THE DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME 227

The Contemporary Distribution of Income. Problems of Measurement. The Generation of Incomes. Inequality and Poverty. Summary.

POSTSCRIPT 257

vi SELECTED READINGS 259

INDEX 261