

272.23

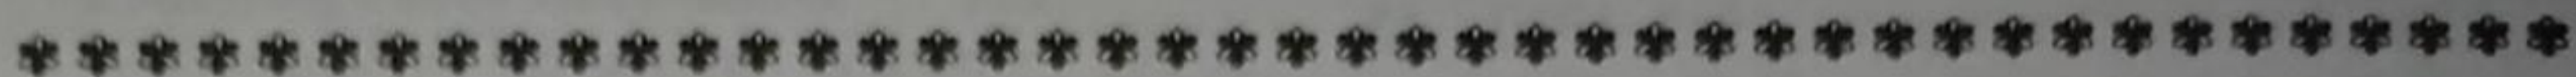

Eastern
Economy
Edition

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION & PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Ninth Edition

NICHOLAS HENRY

Contents

Preface xi

Acknowledgments xiii

Part One: Paradigms of Public Administration 1

Chapter 1 Big Democracy, Big Bureaucracy 4

- Constraint: The Context and Tradition of Public Administration in the United States 4
- Attenuations: The Legacy of Limited Public Administration 7
- Government, Public Leaders, and Public Trust 11
- Bureaucrats: Image and Reality 13
- Revolt and Resistance: Americans and Governmental Growth 14
- Why Bureaucracy? 15
- Explaining Things* 16
- Power: The Gray Eminence of the Public Administrator 17

Chapter 2 Public Administration's Century in a Quandary 29

- The Beginning 29
- Paradigm 1: The Politics/Administration Dichotomy, 1900–1926 30
- Paradigm 2: The Principles of Administration, 1927–1937 32
- The Challenge, 1938–1950 34
- Reaction to the Challenge, 1947–1950 36
- Paradigm 3: Public Administration as Political Science, 1950–1970 37
- The Impact of Political Science: Bureaucracy in the Service of Democracy 40
- Paradigm 4: Public Administration as Management, 1956–1970 41
- The Impact of Management: Understanding the “Public” in Public Administration 42

The Forces of Separatism, 1965–1970 45
Public Administration as Neither Management Nor Political Science 46
Paradigm 5: Public Administration as Public Administration: 1970–? 48
Governance: Toward a New Paradigm? 49

Part Two: Public Organizations 57

Chapter 3 The Threads of Organizations: Theories 58

Models, Definitions, and Organizations 58
The Closed Model of Organizations 59
The Open Model of Organizations 62
The Closed and Open Models: The Essential Differences 69
Closed or Open Organizations? 70
The Literature of Model Synthesis 74
Are Public Organizations Different? 76

Chapter 4 The Fabric of Organizations: Forces 79

Society and the Assessment of Organizations 80
Information and Intelligence in Organizations 82
Information, Intelligence, Organizations, and Four Dead Horses 84
Decision Making in Organizations 87
Administration in Organizations 92
Control, Power, and Authority in Organizations 95
Society and Change in Organizations 100

Chapter 5 The Fibers of Organizations: People 115

What Can Organizations Do to You? 115
Administrative Humanity: Classicism, Social Psychology, and Public Administration 116
Models of Adult Development 120
Models of Cultural Behavior 122
Models of Political Behavior 125
Culture and the Bureaucrat 126
Darwinism and the Organizational Personality 129
Leadership in Organizations 130
The Evolution of Leadership Theory: Defining Leadership for the Times 134
Leading the Public Organization 140

Part Three: Public Management 147

Chapter 6 Clarifying Complexity: Problems of Public Management 150

Clarifying Systems of Public Management 150
Clarifying Public Costs and Benefits 152

Clarifying Public Information 155
Society and the Information Resource 155
 Clarifying Public Decisions 161
 The Information Resource and the Future of Governance 165

Chapter 7 Corruption's Consequences: Performance Measurement, Public Program

Evaluation, and Productivity 170
 Definitions: Naming Things What They Are 170
 Efficiency for Good Government, 1900-1940 171
 Budgeting to Control Costs, 1940-1970 173
 Managing for Efficiency and Effectiveness, 1970-1980 174
 Privatizing for Less Government, 1981-1992 175
 Waste, Fraud, and Abuse: The New Meaning of Corruption, 1975-Present 177
 A New Public Management, 1992-Present 179
The Old Origins of the New Public Management 180
 The Place of Performance Measurement 184
 The Practice of Performance Measurement 186
 Public Program Evaluation 191
 The Place of Public Program Evaluation 192
 Permutations of Public Program Evaluation 193
 The Practice of Public Program Evaluation 196
 Using Public Program Evaluations 199
 Two Productive Innovations 201

Chapter 8 The Public Budget: Purposes and Processes 214

Line-Item Budgeting, 1921-1939 216
 Performance Budgeting, 1940-1964 217
 Planning-Programming-Budgeting, 1965-1971 218
 Management by Objectives, 1972-1977 221
 Zero-Base Budgeting, 1977-1980 222
 Sunset, Sunrise: Sunset Legislation in the States, 1976-1981 224
 The Emergence of the Uncontrollables, 1980-Present 224
 Target-Base Budgeting, 1980-1992 225
A Founder on Deficits 226
 The Legacies of Target-Base Budgeting 229
 Cutback Management: Responding to the Reality of Red Ink 232
 Budgeting for Results, 1993-Present 235
 Building Budgets: Strategies and Tactics 237
 The Process: Congress and Budget Making 239

Chapter 9 Managing Human Resources in the Public Sector 250

The Evolution of American Public Human Resource Management 250
 The Civil Service System: The Meaning of Merit 255
 The Collective System: Blue-Collar Bureaucrats 264
Riffed 265

The Political Executive System: Politics in Administration 270
The Professional Career System: The Person over the Position 273
The Professional Public Administration System: Embracing the Professions of Politics and Management 274
Race, Sex, and Jobs: The Challenge of Affirmative Action 276
Does Public Human Resource Management Have a Future? 290

Part Four: Implementing Public Policy 303

Chapter 10 Understanding Public Policy 305

Public Policy Analysis: A Brief History 305
Political Science, Public Administration, and Policy Analysis 306
The Incrementalist Paradigm of Public Policymaking and Implementation 307
The Rationalist Paradigm of Public Policymaking and Implementation 314
The Problems of the Paradigms 320
The Strategic Planning Paradigm of Public Policymaking and Implementation 321
Strategic Planning: The Public Experience 322
Truly Universal Strategic Planning 326

Chapter 11 Intersectoral Administration 331

Why Collaborate? 331
An American Orthodoxy: Business Is Better 333
The Privatization of Federal Policy: Public Programs and Private Profit Seekers 334
The Process of Privatization: Integration, Operation, and Separation 336
Is Business Better? Obscure Answers from Washington 339
Contracting in Corruption: A Capital Case 341
The New Privatization: The Federal Procurement Reforms 341
The Beltway Bandits: Service Contracting and the Curious Question of Consultants 342
Privatizing in the States 344
Privatizing by Local Governments 345
To Privatize or Not to Privatize: Local Pressure and Public Programs 346
Local Contracting: Management and Cost 347
Cutting Costs: Companies or Competition? 349
Practical Privatization: Lessons Learned 350
The Public Authority 350
"Whoops" 356
The Independent Sector: Experiences in Interdependence 360
Implementation by Individuals: Volunteers and Vouchers 365

Chapter 12 Intergovernmental Administration 379

Thousands and Thousands of Governments 379
The Constitution and the Courts: Setting the Rules 380
The Evolution of Intergovernmental Administration 381

Fiscal Federalism	385
Money and Mandates: Federal Instruments of Implementation	387
Sorting Out Federalism: Fruitful or Futile?	391
Federalism among Equals: The States	392
Intergovernmental Administration: The State and Local Perspective	393
A Load of Local Governments: Definitions, Scope, Functions, Revenue Sources, and Forms of Government for Counties, Municipalities, Townships, School Districts, and Special Districts	396
Regionalism in the States: The Odd American Experience with Intergovernmental Planning	404
Interlocal Cooperation: Creeping Regionalism	406
Place, People, and Power: The Puzzle of Metropolitan Governance	408

Chapter 13 Toward a Bureaucratic Ethic	426
The Rise of Public Sector Ethics	426
Practicing Ethical Public Administration	427
Deeper Currents: Bureaucracy and the Public Interest	429
Ethic Orange	430
Justice as Fairness: A View of the Public Interest	438
Intuitionism, Perfectionism, and Utilitarianism	438
Applying the Justice-as-Fairness Theory	440
The Passion of Public Administration	442

Appendix A: Information Sources, Journals, and Organizations in Public Administration by Specialization	447
Budgeting and Finance	447
Criminal Justice	448
Ethics	448
Federal Government	448
Human Resource Management	449
Independent Sector	449
Information Resource Management	449
Intergovernmental Administration	449
Local Government	450
Minority Affairs	450
Nonprofit Sector (see Independent Sector)	450
Planning	450
Program Evaluation and Performance Measurement	450
State Government	451
Welfare, Health, and Public Safety	451

Appendix B: Annotated Information Sources in Public Administration and Related Fields	452
--	------------

Appendix C: Selected Annotated Journals Relevant to Public Administration	455
--	------------

Appendix D: Selected Academic, Professional, and Public Interest Organizations with Websites and Descriptions 459

Appendix E: Correct Forms of Address for Public Officials 463

Appendix F: Becoming a Public Administrator 465

Careers in Public Administration: How Many Jobs, How Much Pay? 465

Preparing for a Position in Public Administration 466

Finding a Position in Public Administration 469

Sample Consolidated Résumé 470

Appendix G: American Society for Public Administration Code of Ethics 473

Name Index 475

Subject Index 477