

344

RECENT POLITICAL THOUGHT

FRANCIS W. COKER

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
I THE MID-NINETEENTH CENTURY HERITAGE OF POLITICAL IDEAS	1
The Scope of Political Theory	1
Ideas on the Location of Political Authority	5
Ideas on the Province of Government	11
The Criteria of Political Theory	21
Bibliography	30
PART I SOCIALISTIC DOCTRINES
II KARL MARX	35
Marx's Science of Socialism	39
Marx's Program of Action	52
Bibliography	62
III THE SOCIALIST MOVEMENT AND THE ORTHODOX FOLLOWERS OF MARX: BEFORE THE WORLD WAR	66
Bibliography	82
IV DEMOCRATIC AND EVOLUTIONARY SOCIALISTS	85
Academic State Socialists	85
The Land Taxers	88
The Fabian Socialists	98
Revisionist and Reformist Socialists of Continental Europe	107
The "Nationalism" of Fabians and Revisionists	116
Bibliography	118
V SOCIALISM SINCE 1914	122
The Socialists and the World War	122
Liberal Trends in Contemporary Socialism	129
Post-War Socialists of the Left	140
Bibliography	142
VI THE SOCIALISTS OF SOVIET RUSSIA	146
Origins and Policy	146
The Communist Doctrines	160
Conclusion	183
Bibliography	184

viii CONTENTS		PAGE
CHAPTER		192
VII THE ANARCHISTS		192
Historical Sketch		202
Bakunin		217
Kropotkin		222
Anarchist Propaganda by Deed		225
Tolstoi		229
Bibliography		229
VIII THE SYNDICALISTS		235
Historical Background of French Syndicalism		232
The Doctrines of Revolutionary Syndicalism		257
The "New Syndicalism" in France		261
Bibliography		264
IX THE GUILD SOCIALISTS		266
The Guild-Socialist Criticisms		274
A Society of Guilds		283
The Political Theory of the Guild Socialists		286
Conclusion
Bibliography
PART II THE CONTROVERSY OVER DEMOCRACY
X THE DEMOCRATIC TRADITION		291
The Case for Democracy		295
The Problem of Representation		301
The Trend towards Democracy		306
Bibliography		308
XI THE ATTACK ON DEMOCRACY		309
Rule by Average Men		313
An Unscientific Dogma		328
The Impossibility of Democracy		332
Bibliography		336
XII SUBSTITUTES OR CORRECTIVES FOR DEMOCRACY		336
Kings or Dictators		340
Rule by the lite		345
Mixed Government		351
Conclusion		352
Bibliography		353
XIII THE DEFENSE OF DEMOCRACY		354
Democracy and Biology		364
The Argument from Experience		372
Conclusion		376
Bibliography

ix CONTENTS		PAGE
PART III POLITICAL AUTHORITY AND INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY
XIV THE OPPOSITION TO STATE INTERFERENCE		381
The Problem of a Criterion		381
Non-Interference in Morals and Opinions		385
Economic Laisser-faire		390
Bibliography		404
XV PHILOSOPHICAL GROUNDS FOR STATE INTERVENTION		406
The Doctrine of Solidarité		410
Political Idealism in Recent British Philosophy		415
The Political Doctrine of Thomas Hill Green		422
Bibliography		430
XVI "REASON OF STATE" AND THE DOCTRINE OF POLITICAL AUTHORITY BY FORCE		433
The Authoritarian Tradition		433
Nationalism, Imperialism, and Militarism		441
The State as Physical Power		450
Bibliography		457
XVII THE FASCISTS		460
Origins		460
The Structure and Policy of the Fascist State		468
Fascist Doctrine		472
Comparisons and Appraisals		483
Bibliography		492
XVIII THE PLURALISTS' ATTACK ON STATE SOVEREIGNTY		497
The State's Legal Sovereignty		496
Criticisms and Proposals of the Pluralists		508
Conclusion		515
Bibliography		518
XIX LAW AND THE STATE		521
The Analytical Conception of Positive Law		523
Positive Law in Relation to Social Philosophy		527
The Law above the State		533
Conclusion		539
Bibliography		542
XX EMPIRICAL COLLECTIVISM		545
Bibliography		559
INDEX		563