

TEACH YOURSELF
POLITICAL THOUGHT

C. L. WAYPER
M.A., Ph.D.

TEACH YOURSELF BOOKS

ST PAUL'S HOUSE WARWICK LANE LONDON EC4

CONTENTS

Introduction	vii
Political Thought—What it is and Why it Matters

CHAPTER I

How it all Began	I
------------------	---

The Greeks, Plato and the Organic View of the State.
The debt of Political Thought to the Greeks—Greek Characteristics—the Language—the Polis—the Variety of Greek Political Thought.
Plato's Life and Writings—his Political Philosophy, the Human Predicament—the Existence of the Good—the Soul and the Possibility of Knowledge—the Soul and its Thirst for the Good—the State as the Means to the Good—the Organisation of the State to Ensure the Good—the State and the Individual.
The Greeks and the Organic Theory of the State.

CHAPTER II

The State as Machine	42
----------------------	----

Hobbes; Locke; The Utilitarians—Bentham, Mill.
The Failure of the Rational-Natural Tradition—the Tradition of Will and Artifice—the State as Machine.
Hobbes's Life and Writings—his Political Theory, his View of Man—his View of the State—his Importance.
Locke's Life and Writings—his View of Man—the State of Nature—the Social Contract—the Nature of the State, its Form—its Characteristics—his Importance.
Bentham's Life and Writings—the Principle of Utility—Bentham's Idea of the State—his Importance.
Mill's Life and Writings—his Alterations in Utilitarianism—the Reluctant Democrat—his Importance.

CHAPTER III

The State as Organism	130
-----------------------	-----

Rousseau, Hegel, Green.
The Inadequacy of the Tradition of Will and Artifice—the Organic View of the State.
Rousseau—the Conflicting Interpretations—his Idea of Nature—his Idea of the State—his Place in Political Thought.
Hegel's Life and Writings—Spirit and Dialectic—his Idea of the State—an Appraisal of Hegelianism.
Green's Task—the Hegelian in Green—the Individualist in Green—his Achievement.

The State as Class

Marx, Lenin, Stalin.
 Marx's Appeal—his Message—Dialectical Materialism—Historical Materialism—his Economic Analysis—an Appraisal of Marxism.
 Lenin's Task—his Theory of Imperialism—his Restatement of Dialectical Materialism and of Revolutionary Marxism—his Adaptation of Marxism to Russia—his Idea of the Party—the Dictatorship of the Proletariat.
 Stalin as Marxist Scholar—Socialism in One Country—the Totalitarian State—Stalin and Revolution—Stalin and Lenin.

Conclusion