

CONTENTS

xiv

5. THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS: POLITICS AS MEANS OF REDRESS

85

Part Two • Organization and Structure

6. ASSUMPTION OF RESPONSIBILITY BY THE POLITICAL STATE

95

7. GOVERNMENTAL STRUCTURE OF THE AMERICAN ECONOMIC REPUBLIC

100

1. Direct Government Power: The Basic Rules 100
2. The Political-Economic Organization 104
3. The Council of Economic Advisers 106
4. The Congress: Joint Committee on the Economic Report 108
5. The Bureau of the Budget 109
6. Direct Government Buying Power and Control of Tax Levels 112
7. Guidance of Nonstatist (Business) Economic Decisions 115

8. MONEY, CREDIT, AND CAPITAL

117

1. The Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury 117
2. Banks and Banking: Credit and the Interest Rate 121
3. The Function of Privately Owned Commercial Banks 124
4. Capital: Its Accumulation and Investment 127

9. THE CONTROLLED MARKETS

137

1. Transportation, Communications, and Public Utilities 137
2. Agriculture and Farm Products 140

10. THE FREE-MARKET SECTOR: INDUSTRY AND ITS CONCENTRATION

145

1. Realities of the Free Market 145

Contents

xv

2. Industry and Its Concentration 146
3. Problems of Antitrust Policy—Artificial Competition 152
4. The Semicontrolled Businesses 155
5. Stability under Competition—the “Administered Price” 159

11. LABOR: ITS POWER AND PRICE

163

1. The Problem of Organized Labor 163
2. Labor as Power 167
3. The Price of Labor 171

12. THE WELFARE STATE: THE SOCIALIZED SECTOR

176

Part Three • Value

13. THE VALUE SYSTEM AND THE “TRANSCENDENTAL MARGIN”

189

1. The Protestant Ethic 189
2. Effect on Economic Development 195
3. Theory of the Transcendental Margin as Economic Coefficient 198
4. The Vital Currents 208

CONCLUSION

213

Notes

219

Index

239