| 2. Basic Economic Concepts in Managerial Economics | 16-24 |
| I. Introduction
II. Basic Concepts in Managerial Economics
III. Opportunity Cost Principle
IV. Marginal Analysis or Incremental Principle
V. Time Perspective Principle
VI. Discounting Principle
VII. Equi-Marginal Principle
Review Questions | |
| 3. Demand Analysis and Theory of Demand | 25-41 |
| I. Introduction
II. Meaning of Demand
III. Types of Demand
IV. Determinants of Demand or Factor Affecting Demand
V. Demand Function
VI. Demand Schedule
VII. Demand Curve
VIII. Law of Demand
IX. Changes in Demand
Review Questions | |
| 4. Demand Analysis and Elasticity of Demand | 42-65 |
| I. Introduction
II. Meaning of Elasticity of Demand
III. Price Elasticity of Demand
IV. Measurement of Price Elasticity
V. Factors Determining The Price Elasticity of Demand
VI. Income Elasticity of Demand
VII. Cross Elasticity of Demand | |

- VIII. Importance of Elasticity of Demand in Managerial Economics
 IX. Advertising Elasticity of Demand
 X. Elasticity of Price Expectations
Review Questions
- 5. Consumer's Behaviour: Utility Analysis 66-88
- I. Introduction
 II. Concept of Utility Analysis and Relationships
 III. Assumptions of Utility Analysis
 IV. Laws of Utility Analysis
 V. Consumer's Equilibrium - Utility Analysis
 VI. Criticism of Utility Analysis
Review Questions
- 6. Consumer's Behaviour: Indifference Curve Analysis 89-118
- I. Introduction
 II. Concept of Indifference Curve
 III. Law of Diminishing Marginal Rate of Substitution
 IV. Fundamental Assumptions of Indifference Curve Analysis
 V. Properties of Indifference Curves
 VI. Some Exceptional Shapes of Indifference Curves
 VII. Consumer's Equilibrium - Indifference Curves Analysis
 VIII. Exceptional Cases of Consumer's Equilibrium
 IX. Price Effects As Combination of Income and Substitution Effects
 X. Breaking Up Price Effect Into Income and Substitution Effects
 XI. Importance of Breaking Up the Price Effect into Income and Substitution Effects in Managerial Decision Making
Review Questions
- 7. Consumer's Behaviour: Revealed Preference Approach 119-126
- I. Introduction
 II. The Idea of Revealed Preference
 III. Axiom of Revealed Preference
 IV. Assumptions of the Theory
 V. Implications of Revealed Preference Theory
 VI. Convexity of Indifference Curves
 VII. Critical Evaluation of the Theory
Review Questions
- 8. Demand Estimation and Demand Forecasting 127-155
- I. Demand Estimation
 II. Methods of Demand Estimation
 III. Market Experiment Method
 IV. Survey of Consumer's Intentions
 V. Regression Analysis
 VI. Methods of Demand Forecasting
 VII. Criteria of a Good Demand Forecasting
 VIII. Demand Forecasting for Existing Product
 IX. Demand Forecasting of New Products
Review Questions

9. Cost-Volume-Profit or the Break-Even Analysis

156-174

- I. Introduction
 - II. Meaning of Cost-Volume Profit Analysis
 - III. Objectives of Cost-Volume Profit Analysis
 - IV. Concept of Cost-Volume Profit Analysis
 - V. Nature of Cost-Volume Profit Analysis
 - VI. Meaning of Break-Even Point
 - VII. Assumptions of Cost-Volume Profit or Break-Even Analysis
 - VII. Three Alternatives to Explain Break-Even Analysis
 - IX. Methods of Break-Even Analysis
 - X. Managerial Applications of Cost-Volume Profit
 - XI. Advantage of Cost-Volume Profit or Break-Even Analysis
 - XII. Limitations or Disadvantages of Cost-Volume Profit Analysis
- Review Questions*

10. Theory of Production and Supply Analysis

175-216

- I. Introduction
 - II. Production Function
 - III. Types of Production Function
 - IV. Laws of Return or Short Run Production Function
 - V. Law of Variable Proportions
 - VI. Significance of Law of Variable Proportions or Production Function in Managerial Decision Making
 - VII. Law of Diminishing Returns
 - VIII. Law of Increasing Returns
 - IX. The Law of Constant Returns
 - X. The Law of Returns to Scale
 - XI. Distinction Between 'Returns to a Factor' and 'Returns To Scale'
 - XII. Economics of Scale
 - XIII. Relationship Between Internal and External Economics
 - XIV. Diseconomies of Scale
 - XV. Significance of Economies of Scale
 - XVI. Supply Analysis
 - XVII. Law of Supply
 - XVIII. Change in Supply
 - XIX. Elasticity in Supply
 - XX. Factors Influencing Elasticity of Supply
 - XXI. Importance of Elasticity of Supply
- Review Questions*

11. Theory of Production: Isoquant Curve Approach

117-235

- I. Introduction
- II. Meaning of Isoquant Curve
- III. Properties of An Isoquant
- IV. Economic Region and Ridge Lines
- V. Marginal Rate of Technical Substitution
- VI. Iso Cost Lines
- VII. Producer's Equilibrium in Regard to Choice of Inputs

- VIII. Expansion Path
 IX. Optimization Behaviour and Production Function
 X. Returns to Scale and Isoquant Approach
 XI. Returns to a Factor on Isoquants
 XII. Difference Between Returns to Scale and Returns to a Factor
 XIII. Law of Variable Proportions with the Help of Isoquants
Review Questions
- 12. Theory of Cost Curves: Traditional and Modern Approaches 236-256
- I. Introduction
 II. Traditional Approach of Cost Curves
 III. Cost Classification
 IV. Cost Function
 V. Types of Costs
 VI. Average Cost and Marginal Cost Curves
 VII. Relationship Between Average Cost and Marginal Cost
 VIII. Long Run Cost Curves
 IX. Importance of Cost Curves
 X. Modern Approaches to Cost Curves
 XI. Modern Theory of Long Run Cost Curves
Review Questions
- 13. Market Structure and Theory of Revenue Curves 257 -277
- I. Introduction
 II. Market Structure-Conduct-Performance Model
 III. Market Structure Components, Factors and its Elements
 IV. Meaning of Market
 V. Classification of Market Structure
 VI. Elements and Classification of Market Structure
 VII. Difference between Perfect Competition and Imperfect Competition
 VIII. Difference between Perfect Competition and Monopolistic Competition
 IX. Difference between Perfect Competition and Monopoly
 X. Extent of Market and Factors Affecting it
 XI. Revenue Curve Analysis
 XII. Concepts of Revenue
 XIII. Relationship Between AR and MR Curves
 XIV. Relationship Between Elasticity of Demand, Average Revenue and Marginal Revenue
 XV. Significance of The Concept of Revenue In Price Analysis
Review Questions
- 14. Alternative Objectives of A Business Firm 278-294
- I. Introduction
 II. Objectives of a Business Firm
 III. The Objective of Profit Maximisation
 IV. Baumol's Theory of Sales Maximisation

 VI. Security of Profit
 VII. Growth Maximisation

- VIII. Managerial Utility Maximisation
- IX. Satisficing Theory
- X. Cyret and March's Behavioural Theory
- XI. Some Other Objectives of the Firms
- XII. Theories of Profit: The Economist's Perception and Source of Profit

15. Price Determination Under Perfect Competition

295-309

- I. Meaning of Perfect Competition
 - II. Features of Perfect Competition
 - III. Price Determination Under Perfect Competition
 - IV. Change In Equilibrium Price
 - V. Importance of Time Element in the Determination of Value
 - VI. Determination of Very Short Period Price
 - VII. Determination of Short Period Price
 - VIII. Determination of Long Period Price or Normal Price
 - IX. Normal Price and the Laws of Returns
 - X. Difference Between Market Price and Normal Price
- Review Questions*

16. Practical Application of Perfect Competition Model

309-322

- I. Introduction
 - II. Supply and Demand as Applied to Agriculture
 - III. Nature of Competition in Agricultural Market & Industrial Product Market
 - IV. Government's Indirect and Direct Farm Aids
 - V. Price Control and Rationing
 - VI. Minimum Price Legislation or Minimum Support Price
 - VII. Consequences of Price Support or Consequences of Fixing a Floor Price Above the Equilibrium Price
 - VIII. Incidence of Taxation
 - IX. Elasticity of Demand and Supply and Incidence of Taxes
- Review Questions*

17. Equilibrium of the Firm and Industry Under Perfect Competition

323-339

- I. Perfect Competition
 - II. Alternative Approaches To The Equilibrium Of The Firm
 - III. Marginal Revenue and Marginal Cost Approach
 - IV. Short-Run Equilibrium Of The Firm
 - V. Shut Down Point or Firm's Capacity To Bear Loss In Short Period
 - VI. Long-Run Equilibrium of The Firm
 - VII. Equilibrium of An Industry
 - VIII. Long-Run Equilibrium of An Industry and Laws Of Cost
 - IX. Difference Between Firm's and Industry's Equilibrium
 - X. Supply Curve Of A Firm and Industry
 - XI. Supply Curve Of A Firm and Industry Under Different Cost Conditions
- Review Questions*

- 18. Price Determination Under Monopoly 340-361
- I. What is Monopoly?
 - II. Determination of Price and Output or Equilibrium Under Monopoly
 - III. Elasticity of Demand and Monopoly Price
 - IV. Laws of Returns and Monopoly Price Determination
 - V. Is Monopoly Price Always a High Price?
 - VI. Comparison Between Monopoly and Perfect Competition
 - VII. Price Discrimination or Discriminating Monopoly
 - VIII. Price and Output Determination or Equilibrium Under Discriminating Monopoly
 - IX. When is Price Discrimination Profitable?
 - X. Dumping
 - XI. Effects of Price Discrimination
 - XII. What is a Multiplant Monopoly?
 - XIII. Practical Applications of Monopoly Model
 - XIV. Peak Load and Off- Peak Load Pricing
- Review Questions*
- 19. Price Determination Under Monopolistic Competition 362-376
- I. Introduction
 - II. Monopolistic Competition
 - III. Features of Monopolistic Competition
 - IV. Prices and Output Determination Under Monopolistic Competition
 - V. Group Equilibrium
 - VI. Product Differentiation
 - VII. Selling Costs
 - VIII. Distinction Between Selling Costs and Production Costs
 - IX. Selling Costs and Firms Equilibrium
 - X. Comparison Between Monopolistic Competition and Perfect Competition
 - XI. Excess Capacity
 - XII. Is Excess Capacity Wasteful?
- Review Questions*
- 20. Price Determination Under Oligopoly 377-395
- I. Meaning of Oligopoly
 - II. Classification of Oligopoly
 - III. Reasons for the Emergence of Oligopoly
 - IV. Problems of the Theory of Oligopoly
 - V. Price Determination Under Oligopoly
 - VI. The Old Classical Models of Oligopoly
 - VII. Oligopoly Models-Modern Version
 - VIII. Price Rigidity - Sweezy's Kinky Demand Curve Model
 - IX. Price Leadership Models
 - X. Collusive Models of Oligopoly
- Review Questions*
